FORM AGENTS DINNER—February 28, 1928

Dear Alumni:

The special train must be just approaching New Haven now on its way from Concord to Grand Central. Two days ago 185 boys left with scholarship credits, and this morning a “special”, somewhat smaller than usual, has taken the rest of our charges to the various havens where they would be. The School environs speedily settle down to quietude. I have perhaps noted before Dr. Ferguson’s whimsical remark that an hour after the boys have left, all the gray squirrels come out and sit contentedly on all the gray fence posts!

One always plans special little jobs for the first day of vacation. There came at the beginning the commenting on a batch of reports, four hundred of which must be posted by tomorrow night. Then I met Mr. Hill, the head farmer, with dear old Mike, the grounds man, to confer about removing an elm tree, which will conflict with the new chantry on the Chapel’s north side. We next walked across the pond, still fit for skating, though the life has gone out of the ice, to locate some inconspicuous coops in a bend of the “Gulf of Mexico” for some water fowl, about which more anon. I then walked across the ponds and the golf links to the cow barn, and from there to the horse barn to see the birds, which will occupy the aforementioned little houses.

Happy the man with a hobby! Happy anybody who can switch from inevitably carking cares to trifling projects which amuse or stimulate. “The happiest person,” said Dr. Timothy Dwight, “is the person who thinks the most interesting thoughts.” Now I have been thinking for several years that stately white swans and chatty little ducks would lend points of interest to our lovely School ponds. Many experts have shaken their heads, negating the adventure. Probably they are right; but I’d always rather get my quota of punishment from trying to do things than from not trying. So the water fowl were ordered, and not a few of us have been visiting at the upper farm eight Mallard ducks, two Canada geese, and two glorious white swans. A special group of boy naturalists will feed them, after they are launched in mid-April, getting them used to their new aquatic habitat. I am told that an angry swan can mess up a canoe in short order. Well, that will add yet another interest to a spring afternoon!
Another hobby has been the collection of some ancient millstones. These, too, I examined afresh at the upper farm today. Do you know anything about old millstones and old mills? I didn’t, until Mr. Flint, our accurate and perceptive historiographer, looked up the subject and wrote a charming article upon them. As the School is situated in Millville, what more appropriate emblem could we have than a millstone? What a stimulus for the schoolboy! See how it grinds! Visitors to the Harkness Quadrangle will have noted how skillfully the architect has set ancient millstones into the junctions of its handsome pavements. I got the idea from there, and hope to set some of these fine old monoliths where paths meet throughout our School grounds.

Hunting the millstone has proved rare sport. I could tell you at length, but shall not, how Mr. Chesley and I, with a group of Lower Schoolers, tracked up an old dismembered mill in East Weare, finding one tawny millstone beneath the rushing waters of the brook, while its mate nestled for half a century snugly into the bank; or how we found another in Loudon and still another in Bow. But perchance, what has proved to me a stimulating hobby may seem quite commonplace or even foolish to you.

Thus you see how full School life is of incidents. Who will agree with the sage who linked happiness with lack of history? If School history means barrings-out and expulsions and epidemics, by all means the less the better. But if history means quiet daily movings from well to better, character built up, willfulness conquered, learning more greatly loved, the material shaping itself the better to serve the spiritual,—then welcome to all such history!

Such an event occurred last night, which was the Last Night of the winter term. It was the last time in very truth that the Chapel will be used in its present form. Just think! For forty years that beloved building has sheltered all of you old boys in your praises and your prayers. It seemed right, therefore, to express thankfulness for such mercies and benefits, as well as temporarily to secularize the building which will be clambered over for months by many an artisan. From no ecclesiologist could I trace a prayer or office of secularization, and so I took the service of consecrating a church in the Prayer Book and, in a sense, wrote it backwards. Perhaps the best way of closing my spring message to you, with hearty thanks to those Alumni who are helping along the Chapel reconstruction, is to set down the statement which we read last night in the Chapel, which will never be used again. quite as it is and as you know it, and yet will, we believe, seem just the same, though more spacious and beautiful.

O Eternal God, whom the heaven of heavens cannot contain, much less the walls of temples made with hands, we praise Thy Holy Name for the gracious bestowals of Thy Spirit, vouchsafed to us in this Chapel throughout these years. With humble thankfulness we remember how often the Sacred Feast of the upper room has at this altar been celebrated; how many pilgrims, confessing their sins and lifting up their hearts, have here drawn near with faith to receive the heavenly food; how day after day these stones have echoed to our praises and our prayers. Guide, we pray Thee, the plans of enlargement now beginning; that the sanctuary may be moved in safety; that they who labor here may prosper, and that all our works, begun, continued and ended in Thee, may glorify Thy holy name. Amen.

Dearly beloved in the Lord; forasmuch as devout and holy men, moved either by the express command of God, or by the inspiration of His Blessed Spirit, have erected houses for His public worship and have separated them from all unhallowed, worldly, and common uses, in order to fill men's minds with greater reverence for His glorious Being, and affect their hearts with more devotion and humility in His service; let us give thanks for the pious works of the founder and benefactors of this School, nothing doubting but that our Heavenly Father has favorably approved their godly purpose in setting apart this place in St. Paul's School for the praise of His Thame and for the sacred offices of His Church. And, moreover, since we are about to enlarge and beautify this sacred place, endeared to many faithful souls, let us lift up our hearts in gratitude for the use of this Chapel for the past two score years, and let us praise our Heavenly Father for the merciful shelter of this beloved shrine. Now with the authority of the Bishop let it hereby be declared that in this place, consecrated to the worship of God, all overseers and artisans, being necessarily and dutifully employed, shall, unrestricted, exercise their various crafts, and that without irreverence or profanation.

Faithfully your friend,

S. S. DRURY.
THE SCHOOL IN ACTION
By an Alumnus Master.

The winter term lasted this year from January 11 to March 16, nine weeks and one day. The examinations began on the first of March. The prospect of a short term introduced a brisker tempo into school affairs, and the fatigue often incidental to early March was not apparent. Nevertheless, as these words are written while the air outside is dense with falling snow, it seems hardly fair to call it a Spring vacation. The ice on Long Pond is still unbroken and thick enough to walk upon.

The School enjoyed good skating, fairly continuous, up to March 5. The hockey series were all finished, and a few inter-house games were played before the surface became impossible. The Isthmians won the First Team series by large scores, with the Old Hundreds second. The "S. P. S."., after victories over Princeton and Yale Freshmen, lost to the Harvard and Dartmouth Freshmen by close scores. Captain Partridge Mills and Stewart Iglehart were distinguished by play that was always dependable and sometimes brilliant.

The Lincoln’s Birthday festivities took place much as usual. The play was A Message from Mars. It required more elaborate scenic effects than the old Auditorium has hitherto known. Frederick Adams, whose gift for acting has been a joy for the last three years, was as convincing as ever, and the smooth competence of the whole performance bore eloquent witness to Mr. Hawtrey’s patience and skill. The fair netted over two thousand dollars for Coit House. It is a pity that more of those who contribute so generously do not take the opportunity to visit Coit House and realize how genuine and personal is the comfort brought by their contributions. Coit House has always leaned heavily on the School for its support. This support has enabled it to modernize its work until it is now known throughout and without the state as one of the most progressive organizations of its type.

The percentage of failure in the March examinations was 8.44. The figure has been steadily falling. Whether the good showing this time is due to general improvement, or the fact that there was not much to review, remains to be seen this June. The editors of the Horæ in their issue of March 13, roundly scolded the school for the large number of demerits, a rebuke not wholly undeserved. The editorial writing in the Horæ this year has been vigorous, outspoken, and well done. The influence exerted by this periodical in maintaining School spirit and tradition is important; its utterances merit careful reading by all who are interested in the inner life and working of the community.

On March 10, the stack of the old power house was felled by dynamite. At the first attempt, after much preparation and breathless suspense, the stack stood like a rock, with half its foundation gone. A second charge was fired an hour and a half later. This time the chimney dropped across the Sluice, breaking cleanly in the middle when leaning at an angle of about forty-five degrees, falling with a loud crash, and drenching with water and flying snow a few of the more eager spectators.

The School had the pleasure of hearing a lecture by Professor Kirtley F. Mather of Harvard on the development of life upon the earth from its beginnings.

Members of the Lower School have been busy presenting plays in their common room on Saturday evenings. These plays have been written or adapted by boys, carefully staged, and performed with dignity and assurance. Boys of the Third and Fourth forms presented two short French plays at the Community House on March 10.

Owing to the Scholarship credits at the end of the term, the gymnasium exhibit took place two evenings before the end, and proved well up to previous standards. On “Last Night” the usual service was preceded by the moving picture, Old Ironsides. The service had the additional interest of being the last in the chapel as it is now. The plan of reconstruction is to cut the building between the two bays of the choir. When the sanctuary has been moved east, the two additional bays of Mr. Cram’s plan will be inserted between it and the remainder. The work is to begin at once; Mr. Macomber, who is well known to many here from the construction of the new dormitories, is in charge.
The shift in the geographical center caused by the new buildings makes it possible to envisage the school as centered around the flood meadow below the dam. The pond will become slightly more remote, and the Lower Grounds more accessible. The constant crossing and recrossing of the lower Sluice over footbridges, and the files of boys hurrying along the meadow to their meals, bring about new scenes and situations that catch the eye of one familiar with the old arrangement.

As to the pond, several waterfowl have been procured to adorn its waters in the spring. The collection, comprising two swans, two Canada geese, and eight Mallard ducks, is now lodged in pens at the horse barn. The Canada gander entertain those who visit him, by a fantastic performance of neck-craning and honking.

THE HISTORY OF ST. PAUL’S SCHOOL

In accordance with the vote of the Standing Committee at the meeting held November 10, 1927, the President of the Alumni Association appointed the following Board of Editors to formulate plans for a History of St. Paul’s School from its beginning in 1856 to 1931, the year of its 75th anniversary:

- President of the Alumni Association, Chairman Ex-Officio
  Owen Wister, ’77, Advisory Editor
- Joseph H. Coit, ’81, Office Editor
- Arthur S. Pier, ’90, Associate Editor
- Willard Scudder, ’85, Associate Editor
- Abbot Treadwell, ’81, Associate Editor

The organization meeting of the Board of Editors was held at the home of Frederick B. Adams on the evening of January 9, 1928. All the editors were present, and there was a most satisfactory and exhaustive exchange of ideas relative to the proposed history. Since the meeting of January 9th there have been added, as Associate Editors, Stuart D. Preston, ’02, and William H. Harkness, ’18.

During the meeting it developed that each of the Editors had an open mind in regard to the form in which the history should be presented, but a consensus of opinion was finally arrived at to the effect that the book should consist of two main divisions: the first to contain a narrative history of St. Paul’s from its earliest days, with anecdotes of noteworthy events and personalities; and the second division to consist of articles on The Rectors; The Religious Life of the School; The Choir; The Horæ Scholasticae; School Athletics (cricket, rowing, the Isthmian, Old Hundred and Delphian Clubs, etc.); and a chapter devoted to those Alumni who have achieved distinction in the academic world, in the learned professions, in the service of the government, etc., etc. It is to be understood that this is a partial outline only of the subjects which will be treated in this division of the book. The volume will be copiously illustrated and will contain an adequate index.

A beginning of the history has already been made, and contributions have been received from several Alumni on the early days of the School. It is the opinion of the Editors that the atmosphere of the early days of the School can best be recaptured by obtaining, from those who were a part of it, contributions to the history. Letters have been written to many Alumni asking for their reminiscences, and the Board asks now, through the medium of the Alumni Horae, the assistance and cooperation of the Alumni body in preparing this important and valuable work. If any Alumnus can recall some outstanding anecdote or incident of his life at St. Paul's, he is urged to send it to the Office Editor.

There have been published in the past the following books on St. Paul's School, all of which are now, unfortunately, out of print.

ST. PAUL’S SCHOOL HOCKEY TEAM, 1928

AN ACCOUNT OF ST. PAUL’S SCHOOL, by James M. Lamberton. Privately printed, 1898.

Each one of the books mentioned above has its own distinctive excellence: all of them will be of invaluable assistance in preparing this history of seventy-five years; but it is to be noted that the last one was published some thirteen years ago.

THE NEW DIRECTORY

We are glad to announce that the Alumni Directory is in the printer’s hands, and it is expected that bound copies will be in the hands of those who have ordered the book before Anniversary. The committee in charge of the publication of the book has been delayed because of the failure of many Alumni to send in present addresses. Every effort has been made to secure correct addresses, and also to secure addresses for those Alumni with whom for some time we had lost touch.

The Directory will consist of an alphabetical list of all Alumni, living and dead; a locality index (from which it will be noted that Alumni live in every state of the Union, in Canada and in many countries of South America and Europe); and Form lists. In addition, the book will contain a list of the School of today, the Trustees of the School since its foundation, a list of Masters, of officers past and present of the Alumni Association, and various statistical tables.

Those who have already ordered copies will receive them as soon as the book is printed. Those who have not ordered them, but who desire copies, can write to the offices of the Alumni Association either at St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H., or at Room 904, 49 Wall Street, New York City.

DINNER TO ALUMNI FUND FORM AGENTS

On February 28th, at the University Club in New York, Richard M. Hurd, '83, Chairman of the Alumni Fund Committee, gave a very successful and enjoyable dinner to the Alumni Fund Form Agents, the opening gun of the 1928 campaign and the seventh year of the Fund. The guests, in addition to Form Agents, were Reeve Schley, '99, President of the Board of Trustees, Frederick B. Adams, '96, President of the Alumni Association, Trowbridge Callaway, '01, Treasurer, and Joseph H. Coit, '81, Executive Secretary of the Association. The Form Agents who were present included the following:
Mr. Hurd, acting as Toastmaster, spoke of his experiences covering many years of the Yale Alumni Fund, the pioneer fund of this character. He stressed the point that Alumni gave more readily as they became accustomed to doing so year after year, and that the important thing to strive for was a large number of regular annual subscribers. He then pointed to the wall of the dining room where was hung the fine portrait of the Vice Rector, William H. Foster, ’81, done in oils by Mrs. Ellen Emmet Rand. This, he said, was to be one of the gifts to the School from the Alumni Fund of 1928.

Mr. Adams then spoke on the various uses to which the 1928 Fund could be put. He said that a generous Alumnus had arranged to give the School a portrait of the Rector, Dr. Drury, by Sir William Orpen, and that Dr. Drury had expressed the wish that a picture of the Vice Rector could be obtained at the same time. O. Z. Whitehead, ’88, was appointed to negotiate for the services of Mrs. Rand, and the result was the extraordinarily good likeness now ready for presentation to the School.
THE PASSING OF AN OLD LAND-MARK
Destruction by dynamite of stack at old power-plant.

Other projects to which the 1928 fund could be devoted, after paying the office expenses of the Alumni Association and the cost of the Alumni Horae, were the History of the School now in preparation for publication on the 75th Anniversary, and contributions to the Trustees of the School to be used at their discretion in connection with their building program, for grading and beautifying the grounds and for other expenses which are inevitable to the construction of new buildings, but which cannot properly be charged to their donors.

Mr. Schley, being introduced, spoke of the School's growth and of some of the problems confronting the Trustees. One of these was the difficulty of obtaining the right kind of masters. St. Paul's, he said, had been very fortunate in this respect. Another problem was that of maintaining standards of scholarship. The records of the College Entrance Examination Board showed that in the standing of schools for the Phi Beta Kappa prize for the seven best entrance examinations, St. Paul’s in 1925 ranked 16th, with an average of 77%; in 1926, 11th, with an average of 81%; and in 1927, 6th, with an average of 86%—a gratifying improvement.

Although the geographical distribution leaned heavily towards New York, there being 188 New York boys out of a total of 410, he was glad to note that a total of 27 states were represented in the School. There were 54 scholarships now available, each worth $10,000; with an annual income of $500.

The Masters Retirement Fund would begin to function in August, 1929. It would provide for masters who had reached the age of 65 after 15 or more years of service, and amounted to $48,000.

Mr. Schley also spoke of Gene Tunney’s recent visit to the School, and of the fine impression he had made and the welcome he had received.

On the material side, we could congratulate ourselves on the four new dormitories which, like all the new construction planned for, were so substantially built that they could be regarded as permanent structures. The plans for the enlargement of the Chapel had received a remarkable response. Although they had not expected to be in a position to arrange definitely with the builders until much later in the year, the circular sent out by the Rector and himself had already brought in $194,000 out of the $210,000 needed, and the contract had been signed that day. Among the subscriptions was one of $1500 from the members of the present sixth Form. This statement was received with great enthusiasm.
Mr. Schley also stated that it was his opinion that the work of the Form Agents was of the first importance.

Mr. Coit was the last speaker. He outlined the plans for the 1928 Alumni Fund campaign, and told of the editorial organization for the School History to be published in 1931. It was important to get, as soon as possible, all available data on the early days of the school as there were few living now whose memories went back to that time. Every Alumnus was urged to send in whatever material he thought would be interesting.

Mr. Coit ended his talk with some very interesting comparative statistics on the Yale, Andover, Dartmouth, St. Mark’s and St. Paul’s alumni funds. Without going into all the figures, it may be said that St. Paul’s, with a total of 3950 living alumni and total subscriptions of $212,605 for the first six years, stands high on the list. Two great things that St. Paul’s had, said Mr. Coit, were its splendid traditions and its loyal body of Alumni.

The dinner ended with the singing of Salve Mater and a vote of thanks to Mr. Hurd for his delightful hospitality.

ST. PAUL’S SCHOOL SERVICE

THERE has seldom been a more impressive St. Paul’s School service than the one held at St. James’ Church in New York at four o’clock in the afternoon of March 25th. The church is a beautiful, stately building, and its Rector, Dr. Crowder, had taken the most infinite pains to arrange a service which would make those members of the St. Paul’s School family who attended feel that they were really in the School atmosphere.

The church was crowded with Alumni and their families, boys now at the School with their parents, and younger boys, entered, but not yet at the School. There were between six and seven hundred people present. Among the old guard noticed were Henry Parish, ’76, Julian Robbins, ’74, George Upshur, ’75, Nelson Borland, ’77, Col. G. Creighton Webb, ’72, and Frank H. Potter, ’70. In addition to the Rector, Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Fiske, Godfrey Brinley and Willard Scudder represented the School.

The choir entered singing the hymn, “Love Divine” to Mr. Knox’s tune. Godfrey Brinley read the lessons, Dr. Crowder having the rest of the service. The hymn before the sermon was that beloved of all St. Paul’s boys, “Saviour, Source of Every Blessing”. The main theme of the Rector’s sermon was what the School, their Alma Mater, can do to help its boys and the Alumni. Like all his sermons it was scholarly and eloquent, and he closed with a beautiful and touching tribute to some of the men whose influence and example have helped to build St. Paul’s. The choir sang “O, Pray for the Peace of Jerusalem” as almost none other than the School choir has ever sung it.

The collection, which was for the New York Protestant Episcopal City Mission Society, was taken up by Reeve Schley, ’99, President of the Board of

'88 FIFTH FORM—40TH REUNION

ST. PAUL'S SCHOOL, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 6TH, AND THURSDAY, JUNE 7TH, 1928

NOTICE No. 1—JANUARY, 1928.

Dear Fellow Form Mates:

On June 6th and 7th this year our Form will hold its Fortieth Reunion at the School, and it is earnestly hoped that each and every one of you will make it a point to be present so as to not only have the pleasure of again meeting your old Form mates, but to give them the pleasure of seeing you and thus secure the main objectives of the Reunion. The following have signified their intention of being present: Charles L. Borie, George W. Burleigh, George Chapman, Walter Cluett, John W. Cummin, Irvin McD. Garfield, Charles C. Goodrich, Charles D. Hart, John K. Mitchell, Benjamin W. Morris, William P. Niles, J. Craig Powers, Alfred R. Riggs, Jesse B. Riggs, Carl Stebbins, Alfred H. Swayne, O. Z. Whitehead, and Clarence C. Zantzinger. Of our original Form of 95 members 55 are living. This only binds closer together those of us who remain. Much has happened since last we met in Reunion. The record will be laid before you.

The Rector and the School extend to you a warm welcome, and everything possible will be done for your comfort. Sleeping accommodations will be provided in the school building. We can take our meals wherever we choose. We will see some familiar faces, and Mr. James Knox, Mr. Spanhocfd, Mr. Foster, Mr. Flint and Mr. Scudder will be on hand to welcome us.

You will be greatly interested to see the old buildings and playgrounds of our time, and old stories and reminiscences will come back to you. A special service will be held in the old chapel in memory of our dead, conducted as before by our Form mate, the Reverend William P. Niles. The new chapel is more beautiful than ever, and there, on Anniversary Day, June 7th, we will attend the time-honored service, will sing the old hymns and hear "O Pray for the Peace of Jerusalem." We will attend the Alumni luncheon at the Upper School, and will march by Forms in the Alumni Parade to the Lower Grounds to see the field sports. On Wednesday, June 6th, we arrive early, and will wander about the grounds, looking at the old buildings and the new ones, the four new dormitories, the new power plant and Morris walk and bridge. In the afternoon we will go by way of Tibbett’s Hill, “scented with trailing arbutus,” or on the old road past the pest house to our respective Halcyon or Shattuck sides and cheer our crews in the boat races, and back to the flag pole to see the winning crew hoist its oar to the mast head. The evening we will have to ourselves. At our Form meeting Wednesday evening, we will hear of our Form mates and from those present, and will be interested in the plans for the School’s future—in scholarship—health administration and building plans, Chapel, choir house, dining hall and planting plans. Remember our ’88 Fifth Form has done wonderful work for the School. The Form Fund of $25,000 started a movement that has kept on in increasing momentum, and our interest in the School’s welfare has helped greatly to stimulate others likewise. It is fair to say that no other Form has done more for the School than ours, and it will be our pride and satisfaction to see what we have accomplished. It surely is well worth the time and trouble to come to the School for two days. Note the dates now. Time tables of trains will be published in future notices. Please send the Secretary notice of your intention to be present if you have not already done so.

CHARLES D. HART,
Form Secretary.

THE HOCKEY MATCH BETWEEN THE PRINCETON FRESHMEN AND ST. PAUL’S

The hockey game between the Princeton Freshmen and the School team took place on the afternoon of December twenty-second at Madison Square Garden. St. Paul’s seemed to have the advantage from the beginning and scored once in each period, winning by 3 to 0. Because of the continued hard and fast opposition of Princeton, it was particularly satisfactory to see the team-work of the School team improve as the game progressed, giving promise of the development of an exceptionally good team this year.

The attendance at the game was large. It was a great pleasure to have the Rector present, as well as many of the Trustees, Masters and the families of the Alumni. Almost every one of the boys of the School who lives in or around New York was on hand.

The Madison Square Garden Club very kindly extended the hospitality of its rooms, and those present were given the opportunity of meeting the Rector after the game. The holiday spirit was evident, and, thanks to the active interest taken by Bernon Prentice in arranging the game last year and this, there is every reason to hope that it has been established as an annual event to open the Christmas holidays.

As to the game itself, after the Rector had faced off the puck, the players got down to business. Dunbar Bostwick scored the first goal in the opening period, and Captain Mills scored one in the second and another in the third period. In the opinion of the Alumni and friends of the School this was the fastest skating, best trained team that has represented St. Paul’s for some years. It was the seventh annual game since 1922 between the St. Paul’s and Princeton teams.
We quote from excellent comments on the game which appeared in the Herald Tribune on December 23rd:

"Stewart Iglehart, a 150-pound defense man, was the outstanding star of the contest, although he did not figure in the scoring. His puck-checking was brilliant and his stick handling the best of the youngsters who took part in the game. St. Paul’s dented the Princeton net after 10.50 of the first period, when Bostwick netted the puck on a rebound off the goalie’s pads. Ingersoll, the collegian goalie, was stormed heavily, but managed to save several difficult shots.

Captain Mills, on a brilliant dash down the ice, hung up another goal in 5.45 of the second period. Ingersoll was tricked entirely away from the goal mouth, and Mills trickled the puck into the goal.

Mills’s second score, in the third period, was cleverly executed. He skated around the Princeton goal with the puck and just barely scooped it past Ingersoll. The time of this one was 5.10. A moment later Ingersoll saved a hard one from Iglehart’s stick.

Though three goals were scored, Ingersoll’s work at goal was the only feature of an otherwise outplayed Tiger sextet. He saved time after time, while George Munson, for St. Paul’s, had little more to do than stand by and watch."

CORRESPONDENCE CONNECTED WITH THE PROCEEDS OF THE HOCKEY GAME

Julian S. Myrick, Esq., January 17, 1928
46 Cedar Street, New York City.

My dear Julian:

It gives me great pleasure to turn over to you a check for $2120.58, being net proceeds of the game between St. Paul’s School and the Princeton Freshmen, which we wish to donate to the Sports Bay of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, with the special request that the money donated last year and this sum be expended on the Hobey Baker Medallion in the window of this bay.

It is a keen satisfaction to the graduates and undergraduates of St. Paul's School and Princeton University that we have been able to contribute to the memorial of one of the greatest sportsmen that the school and college have ever had.

Very sincerely yours,
(Signed) BERNON S. PRENTICE.

My dear Mr. Prentice:

I learn with great pleasure from Mr. Myrick that he has received your check for $2120.58 being the net proceeds of the Hockey Game between St. Paul's School and the Princeton Freshmen, which you are contributing to the Sports Bay of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine.

Will you please express to the teams of both St. Paul's School and Princeton and to all concerned, my warm appreciation of their help and interest in the erection of the Sports Bay.

Sincerely yours,
(Signed) WILLIAM T. MANNING.
INDOOR POLO

On January 3rd a number of alumni and parents of boys now at the School enjoyed an evening of spirited polo at the Squadron A Armory. This event was entirely due to the energy and enthusiasm of George Matthews, Jr., '07, Captain of Troop “C” and Chairman of the Polo Committee of the Squadron.

The list of active and ex-members of Squadron A who attended St. Paul’s School consists of some 114 men and of the 12 players that evening, 8 were either alumni of the School or members of the present 5th and 6th Forms at St. Paul’s. Robert Andrews Grannis, ’98, who is president of the Indoor Polo Association of the U. S. A. was referee.

The first match, a close and well played one, was between the so-called Old Aiken Team, consisting of members of the 5th and 6th Forms of St. Paul’s School, and a team picked from Squadron A. The Old Aiken Team won with the close score of 8 to 7. Bostwick played particularly well for the winning team.

The second match was between a team of St. Paul’s School Alumni and a team representing All New York, in which the latter won 6\(\frac{1}{2}\) to 3\(\frac{1}{2}\). St. Paul’s School Alumni team had two members of the American international challenge cup squad, Robert Strawbridge, ’15, and Winston Guest, ’23, but the superior team work of the All New York team, as well as their familiarity with the indoor game as opposed to the outdoor game, gave them a comparatively easy victory, although the riding was hard and the contest an extremely spirited one. For the St. Paul’s School Alumni team Guest excelled.

BOOK NOTICE

THE BIRTHPLACE OF VERMONT. A HISTORY OF WINDSOR TO 1781.

By Henry S. Wardner

Privately Printed, Charles Scribner’s Sons.

We take pleasure in reprinting this appreciative notice from the New York Sun:

“This is an excellently compiled local history, mainly from printed sources. In Vermont, to a greater extent than in most States, the local history of any town is bound up with the complicated story of the colony itself, with the conflicting claims of New York and New Hampshire to the soil, and consequently a good local history must make constant references to the larger affairs beyond the limits of most narratives of that sort. There is no modern scholarly history of the State of Vermont, but in this volume, in addition to wealth of local material, the general story of the colony is told lucidly and impartially, without departing too widely from the bounds naturally set by the choice of a local subject. Although the book is not likely to appeal to the general reader, it will be useful to the special student."

Obituaries

THOMAS MARLAND COGSWELL
1856-1858

Thomas Marland Cogswell, the only surviving member of the original sixth Form of 1858, died peacefully in his sleep in the night of February 24th, at his home in Lawrence, Massachusetts. He was born in Andover, Mass., July 17, 1843, the son of the Hon. Francis Cogswell and Mary Sykes (Marland) Cogswell.

Late in November last, after the Alumni Horae had gone to press, Mr. Cogswell sent in his questionnaire, prepared in his own hand, for the Alumni Directory, and on it he wrote the following:

"In 1856 I was a member of St. Paul's School. We had only a few boys in our Form. I was given what was then called a Diploma. I have lost it somewhere. We lived and had school in the old Shattuck house. I was twelve years old. I remember Mr. and Mrs. Coit very well. They were just married. I am an old man almost 84 years old."

After leaving St. Paul's he went to Phillips Academy at Andover. At the age of eighteen he enlisted in the 44th Massachusetts Regiment and served in a num-number of engagements in South Carolina during the Civil War. This regiment served with distinction.

After his return from the War, he became associated with his brother, John F. Cogswell, in the express business in Lawrence, Massachusetts, and for many years they carried on a local express between Lawrence and Boston.

He married, June 27, 1872, Georgiana J. McCoy of Lawrence. They had no children. Mrs. Cogswell died in 1908. Mr. Cogswell continued to live in Lawrence up to the time of his death, where he was a much beloved and respected citizen.

He was a descendant in the seventh generation of John Cogswell, who was born in 1592 in Westbury, Leigh, County of Wilts, England. John Cogswell came to Ipswich, Massachusetts in 1635 and died there on November 29, 1669. It is interesting to note that everyone by the name of Cogswell in the United States is a descendant of this man.

WILLIAM CRAWFORD SHELDON

1872-1878

William C. Sheldon, who died suddenly at his home, 1105 Park Avenue, New York City, on December 14th, 1927, was a man who had a talent for friendship. Not many men have been beloved as we was by those who knew him. He, in turn, was steadfast to his friends and never failed one when in need. St. Paul’s can number few more devoted sons. His heart was wrapped in St. Paul's memories. Shortly before he died, when he was ill and suffering, against the advice of his doctor he insisted on visiting the school and returned home full of enthusiasm over the improvements and additions which he had observed. As he grew older his affection for the School seemed to increase. He ever took a keen interest in its welfare.

He was born November 5th, 1859, at 44 Remsen Street, Brooklyn, and was graduated from Trinity College in the class of '82. He was a member of Delta Psi Fraternity. In 1884 he married Bessie T. Benham, who survives him. For many years he was a member of William C. Sheldon & Company and exhibited marked ability as a business executive joined with sound conservative principles. He belonged to the Union Club of New York, the St. Anthony Club and the Sons of the Revolution.

In the year 1900 the Sheldon Library was given to St. Paul's School as a memorial to William C. Sheldon by his four children, George R. Sheldon, William C. Sheldon, Mrs. W. S. P. Prentice and Mrs. Alfred C. Harrison. The Sedilia in the Chapel were also given in 1897 by the Sheldon family in memory of the father.

Those who knew Will Sheldon best will remember him for the refinement of his character, for the courage and cheerfulness with which he accepted trying situations and for the loyalty of his friendship. He had a big heart that beat in sympathy with those in distress. I am told that for the last quarter of a century he had never failed to be present at a St. Paul's gathering held in New York City. He was the first to send in his check and was always there, the same ardent and warm hearted alumnus.

The Rector paid a fitting tribute to the memory of his friend when he took the long journey to New York in order to officiate at his funeral.

He lies buried in the quiet churchyard in Sleepy Hollow which faces the Hudson River.

EDWARD DALE APPELTON, '78

CHARLES HENRY LUDINGTON
1878-1883

Charles Henry Ludington died at his home in Ardmore, Pennsylvania, on November 13, 1927, at the age of sixty-one. He had lived an active and useful life. He was born in New York City in 1866 and came to St. Paul's as a boy of twelve with his older brother, William. A younger brother, Arthur Crosby, came some years later. It was natural that Charles Ludington should come to St. Paul's because of the many relatives and friends who had preceded him there—the Browns, Noyes, etc. He was at St. Paul's for six years, passing through the school with a creditable record of scholarship. He had marked literary gifts, and though he was slight in stature, he entered into athletics throughout his school career, being an excellent cricketer.

He graduated from Yale University in 1887, receiving his Master's degree two years later. In 1897 he married Miss Ethel Saltus, a member of another family closely identified with St. Paul's School. In 1891 Ludington was admitted to the New York bar and practiced in New York City for ten years. In 1901 he went to Philadelphia as Secretary and Treasurer of the Curtis Publishing Company, later becoming its Vice-President.

He was generous to a degree, and philanthropic, building the Ludington Infirmary in memory of his wife at Trudeau, New York. He gave largely to the Henry Phipps Institute for the Study, Treatment and Prevention of Tuberculosis, and built libraries at Bryn Mawr and Ardmore as memorials to Mrs. Ludington. He was generous to St. Paul's and Yale University.

He was the first Form Agent for his Form after the Alumni Fund was started and served enthusiastically until ill health prevented his carrying on the work. His honorable career adds to the prestige of his school.

Benjamin Franklin Jones was a boy at St. Paul's School for two years, and in his comparatively short residence there he gave evidence of the ability and energy which marked his subsequent career. At the time of his death he was chairman of the Board of Directors of the Jones Laughlin Steel Corporation of Pittsburgh, being closely associated in his business relations with the Laughlins, another well known St. Paul's family.
After leaving St. Paul’s he went to Princeton, from which University he graduated in 1891. He then entered the Jones and Laughlin Company, becoming treasurer and a member of the Board of Managers. Some four years before the death of his father he was made president of the Company.

His father had been chairman of the National Republican Committee in 1884, and Frank Jones followed in his footsteps, being a staunch supporter of the Republican Party, and in 1908 serving as chairman of the Electoral College of Pennsylvania in the Presidential election.

At the time of his death he was a trustee of the Allegheny General and Mercy Hospitals, and a director of the Union Trust Company of Pittsburgh and the National Union Fire Insurance Company. He was one of Pittsburgh’s most prominent citizens. He is survived by his wife and a son, B. F. Jones, 3rd (‘13).

GEORGE REESE SATTERLEE
1887-1890

George Reese Satterlee spent three years at St. Paul’s where he will be remembered as a boy taking a great interest in scientific studies. His early tastes developed into a love of medicine, which resulted in his graduating from the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York, in 1898, the same year in which he received his Master’s degree from Columbia, from which University he graduated in 1894.

After receiving his degree in medicine, he continued his studies abroad, both in Berlin and Vienna.

In the course of his career he was associated with many hospitals in New York, among them the Roosevelt, Midtown, Presbyterian and Washington Heights. For the past four years he had been conducting extensive experiments in endocrinology at Fordham University.

Seven members of his family attended St. Paul’s. His brother, Edward Lansing, lost his life in the Great War, in which George Reese served as Captain attached to the Sanitary Corps of the Ninth Coast Artillery, New York City.

DOUGLAS CHARNLEY
1888-1891

Douglas Charnley died in France, September 21, 1927.

After graduating from college he was with the Garden City Wire and Spring Company of Chicago until 1899. Subsequent to this connection he became the owner of a coffee and tobacco plantation in Cuba and was also the manager of the bond department of Granger Farwell and Company for several years.

The remainder of his life was spent in England, Italy, Switzerland and France. During the war he worked with the Red Cross in the devastated regions of Italy and was decorated with the Italian War Cross, Service Medal, and Red Cross bronze medal. He also had received the British War Medal and Victory Medal. Charnley was married a few months before his death, and he is survived by his wife.
