PORTRAIT OF REV. GODFREY MALBONE BRINLEY, ’83
A Master at the School from 1888 to 1930
Painted by John Lavalie, ’14
By tradition, apparently, the reporting of Anniversary this year falls to 1912, though surely this duty should more appropriately have devolved upon 1887, whose eight representatives were celebrating the Golden Anniversary of their Form; or to 1927, whose delegation of twenty-eight members was numerically (if not in years or gross tonnage!) by far the most impressive.

But since to 1912 has fallen this pleasant task, we must be forgiven if this report be written with a touch of '12 bias, since to us it was an equally momentous occasion—our Silver Anniversary. Appropriately enough, most of us who attended had a bit silver in our hair; fewer, an affluent minority, had plenty in their pockets, too. But neither silver nor the lack of it, on poll or in poke, proved any barrier to the good fellowship of those memorable June days.

Certainly the Rector and the entire School did everything possible for the entertainment of their guests: all doors were open and every imaginable courtesy was shown us. For our material needs there was feasting aplenty, from start to finish; nor was spiritual diet neglected, since certainly the speeches at the Alumni Meeting, the Flag Pole Ceremony and the Anniversary Luncheon proved keenly interesting, while the Chapel Services, as always, opened vistas into the well remembered past and the uncharted future such as may only be glimpsed when deepest and truest emotions are roused.

The Anniversary program was officially initiated on Friday, opening with an Isthmian triumph at the Lower Grounds, where that Club succeeded in scoring the impressive total of 88½ points in the Track Meet, as compared with the Delphians' 48½ and the Old Hundreds' 45. Parenthetically, the writer cannot resist this golden opportunity to ask, of any Old Boy who reads these lines and can and will answer, a wholly irrelevant question: why was the appropriate and euphonious title of "Olympian" superseded, these many long years ago, by the apparently inappropriate one of "Old Hundred"? Did the former title appear too grandiloquent?

But to return to the record. The highlight of this year's meet was perhaps the winning of 41 points for the Isthmians by Grassi alone, a very remarkable record, and one justifying most fully the award of the Franchot Medal "for all around excellence in track and field." No less distinguished (on a shorter track and in a more limited field!) was J. Macl. Calloway (1927-1933), who won the Alumni Dash in record time, with an ease most disheartening to elderly competitors. He received the Challenge Cup from Miss Polly Blodgett, who, assisting W. P. Willetts, ’10, had the pleasant duty of distributing the Track Meet prizes.

On Friday evening was held the annual School Musicale, which offered a well-rounded and exceptionally interesting program, admirably demonstrating the thoroughness and ability of both instructors and performers. Surely Mr. James Knox himself could have asked no better—would that he had been there to hear!

On Saturday morning, at the close of an epic baseball game between the School and the Alumni, on which no reliable data is available as to personnel or score, the Old Boys adjourned to the Alumni Meeting, which was well-attended, enlivened by sundry sprightly sallies and much interesting comment of more serious interest. Carll Tucker ’00 was unanimously re-elected President of the Alumni Association.

The serious work of the day thus concluded, the Alumni, after a delectable buffet luncheon, refreshed and duly photographed for the edification of posterity, fell into line for an impressive parade, ranged in order of seniority, with 1912 well to the fore! (Adv.). Amid thunderous plaudits from admiring wives and less admiring offspring, we circled the Flag Pole at the Lower Pond and then returned to motor transport, more befitting our years and dignity, for the trip to Long Pond. Of the Boat Races all details are set forth elsewhere—suffice it to say that though the Halcyons without serious difficulty won seven races out of ten, and the Dole Cup, the Shattuck rudder was hoisted to the top of the Flag Pole at sunset, “once again as in bygone days . . .,” a ceremony hailed by at least four members of ’12 with vast satisfaction and some small pecuniary profit.

At the conclusion of the Flag Pole Exercises the formal program of the day ended, classes and individuals adjourning to such diversions as they chose. Some attended the Sixth Form Dance at the Upper, some visited old friends among the masters, but our own record, again, is perforce only of ’12, the members of which held a most successful Reunion Dinner at the Concord Country Club, enlivened by those endless reminiscences dear to the heart of every graduate of every institution, and correspondingly boring to long-suffering wives. It was voted a complete success by all the active members present, and a fitting tribute to the organizing genius and executive ability of our Form Agent, Kenneth G. Reynolds (Applause). The Form’s 25th Anniversary Gift, now amounting to $524.15, will be used to start a perpetual scholarship in the name of the Form.

Sunday morning was devoted to the Anniversary Service, which opened with the singing of the traditional Processional, “Love Divine . . .” Mr. Bartrop read the Epistle; Rev. J. K. Tibbits (1880-1888), the Gospel; and Dr. Drury read the Bidding Prayer, followed by the address, taking as his text the words of St. Paul: “I have finished my course; I have kept the faith.” Few hearers stood unmoved as the choir sang “Blest be the Tie that Binds,” and the well-remembered Recessional, “Praise, My Soul, The King of Heaven.”
At one o'clock was held the annual Anniversary Luncheon, in the Upper School. Here again was found the best of fare, mental as well as material, for the speakers of the day were more than ordinarily able and interesting: Dr. Drury; Dr. Dodds, President of Princeton University; Reeve Schley '99, President of the Board of Trustees. A most attractive feature of the entertainment was the rendition by the Glee Club of three selections from its recent recital, which received the enthusiastic applause they so well merited, while for many of us the sentimental high spot of the entire celebration was the unveiling, by his granddaughter, of the splendid portrait of Dr. Brinley, painted by John Lavalle '14.

The luncheon ended at last, our Reunion was officially adjourned, albeit most reluctantly, many staying on till late in the evening, so that every last possible moment of that all-too-rare occasion might be enjoyed. The weather, the setting, and our hosts (in order of ascending importance!) had all contributed to make this 25th Anniversary a memorable one. The only saddening thing was the absence of so many well-remembered and well-loved faces. Though perhaps they, too, were really with us, for it is impossible to think of the School without them, or of them without the School. Surely each of us is so much a part of that great fabric of Past, Present and Future which is St. Paul's School, that somehow all, in flesh or in spirit, must return each Anniversary to celebrate its greatness and to "wish it Prosperity...."

ROSS WHISTLER, '12.

THE ANNIVERSARY LUNCHEON

The annual Anniversary Luncheon began shortly after one o'clock on Sunday, June 6, in the Upper School. A capacity crowd of visitors, masters, trustees, and boys was served a delicious meal in the main dining hall, the Common Room, where tables had been erected, and in the cloister, where a buffet luncheon was provided for those unable to get seats.

At the conclusion of the meal, Dr. Drury arose to welcome the friends of the School who were present and to tell them of the gifts which had been made to the School during the past year. He suggested that one donation should be used in part to repaint the mustard-colored walls around him, which, he explained, often disturbed the digestion of those who eat in the Upper School.

The Glee Club then entertained the gathering with three selections from its recent recital which were enthusiastically received. Dr. Drury thanked the Glee Club and proceeded to introduce the main speaker, Dr. Dodds, President of Princeton University. Our guest acknowledged Dr. Drury's introduction by assuring us that, in a sense, he does feel that he is "coming home" when he visits St. Paul's. He then went on to a discussion of the relative merits and demerits of such political theories as Communism and Fascism, and he argued that the nations of today are all too eager to substitute these theories for a religious creed. What the world most needs at this crucial time is an atmosphere in keeping with the standards of the Christian religion. Just how this atmosphere is to be created, Dr. Dodds does not pretend to know. He pointed out, however, that we who have been granted a thorough education should do our utmost to further this cause.

After thanking Dr. Dodds, the Rector called upon Mr. Reeve Schley, President of the Board of Trustees. Mr. Schley announced that Mr. Henry A. Laughlin had been chosen by the Trustees to fill the vacancy over a period of four years on the Board left by Mr. Frederick Adams. He then presented a medal for twenty-five years' service to Mr. Richards, in the following happy words:

"There is but one recipient of our Masters Honor Medal this year, but he is particularly worthy of it.

"He is by nature a poet and writer, for in his veins flow the martial strains of the Battle Hymn of the Republic, written by his grandmother, Julia Ward Howe, in the stirring days of the Civil War. Our own generation, or at least my generation, has been charmed by the stories written by his mother, Laura E. Richards, and he himself has published a volume of poems, 'Songs of a Schoolmaster,' some ten years ago.

"But this medal is not awarded for what a man has given of himself to the world, but for what he has given of himself to St. Paul's. During his quarter of a century of service here he has been a bulwark of strength in the English Department; for many years Head of the Upper School, Head Coach of our Crews at Long Pond, closely identified with the activities of life on the Hockey Rinks and Lower Grounds, and now Head of the Halcyon Club.

"All these activities have been conducted with a real love of youth, which alone can make the great schoolmaster, and with a sense of modesty, at times almost embarrassing.

"I quote from one of his own 'Songs of a Schoolmaster':

'I would not check the struggling truth
With bias old or ways forgot
Nor would I pose to eager youth
As knowing things that I do not.'

"The medal this year is awarded to John Richards."

The final feature of the luncheon was the unveiling, by his granddaughter, Patricia Cave, of a portrait of Mr. Brinley, who for forty-two years was directly associated with the School. The portrait, which was done by John Lavalle (1909-1914), will probably be hung in the Lower School, of which Mr. Brinley was so long the Head. Bishop Dallas closed the proceedings by accepting this portrait on behalf of the Trustees in an amusing and sincere fashion. He spoke as follows:

"The Trustees are indeed happy to accept this gift, the portrait of the Reverend Godfrey Malbone Brinley. There is a significance to this occasion and to this portrait which no member of Saint Paul's School can miss. It is more than the saying thanks for the present of a man's picture, no matter how splendid a piece of work the artist may have done. There are other good-looking men besides Mr. Brinley whom the artist might have painted,—for example, any member of the Board of Trustees or Faculty of Saint Paul’s School,—but it is our friend and fellow-worker, Godfrey Brinley, whom so many of you affectionately call ‘The Deacon,’ whose portrait we accept so gladly.

“Probably the last person on earth to guess why so much carefulness has been put into this presentation is the subject of the portrait himself, so modest is he, and so unwilling that any fuss should be made over him or over his picture.

“To have given a lifetime to Saint Paul’s School, as Mr. and Mrs. Brinley have, is what we all recognize and for which we wish to express our appreciation and gratitude. No one could have been more gracious or gentle in her large share of this not-to-be-measured contribution to the welfare of the School than Mrs. Brinley. To her as well as to Mr. Brinley would we express our thankfulness.

“I am quite sure that the real significance in our friend’s mind is that it was as a Priest in the Church of God that he gave himself to the School. No teacher can give his life to a school unless he loves that school. Such is the memory which Godfrey Brinley has left behind in this place and such will always be the memory his portrait will stir. Forty years of work, of love, of time of prayers,—yes, of fellowship and good humor. It’s a grand record, one to be proud of

“It is such records which have made Saint Paul’s School. Through these decades since the first Rector and a boy or two came over the hill from Concord, many men and women have woven love and insight and skill into this fabric which we call Saint Paul’s School. It has gone on so long that now we expect it from everyone at the School. We cannot quite tell a new boy or a new Master about it. It is something that you become aware of when your soul is silent, when you set free your imagination. Or it is an appreciation which comes to you as you contemplate the career of Godfrey M. Brinley.

“One might suspect, when you hear the Glee Club sing ‘Noah was a grand old sailor’ or some similar hymn, that Mr. Brinley ought to return to check up the courses on the Bible and to look into the matter of the School’s theology. I would like to inform both him and President Dodds that this song of the Glee Club is what one might call modernistic, and that the theology of the School is still sound. And, too, I would like to say to President Dodds that although this is what is called a Church school, our theology and that of Princeton University are much alike, a theology based on the elements of the Christian religion which are so desperately needed in the country today.

“And now, on behalf of the Trustees and Faculty of Saint Paul’s School, it gives me great pleasure and honor to accept this portrait of our very dear friend, Godfrey Malbone Brinley.”
The season of 1937 is memorable in our rowing history as the first since the death of Willard Scudder. How we did miss him—the sight of him, the sound of his voice, his thoughtful, wise friendship. Our sorrow was too real to be expressed in speech but it bore daily fruit in our actions. We had to close the gap. Nothing else would have been worthy of his memory. And it should be said that in getting on without him, in attaining, perhaps better than in his life-time, the high ideal of sportsmanship that he exemplified, we paid him the highest tribute.

Not only did we all feel the absence of Mr. Scudder this year, but our oldest, wisest and most experienced coach went ashore to become Halcyon President. The coaches keenly felt his going.

As usual, the coaches were far from satisfied with the technique of the crews, but they were rewarded for their labours by the sight of progress throughout the season, by the excellent spirit that prevailed in fair weather and foul, and, on Race Day, by the fury with which each pair of crews contested every inch of water on the course.

For this Race Day was remarkable for the closeness of the races. No crew was beaten by as much as two lengths. In two races, the crew that eventually won had been behind part of the way. In no case did any crew ever look discouraged. And, severe as all the contests were, all the oarsmen finished in good condition. Weary and gasping as we all know the crews were at their finishes, we were particularly pleased that there was no silly, melodramatic display of fatigue.
A few remarks about the season may be of interest, before we get at the races themselves. First, as to coaches: Mr. Cannon coached the first and second crews; Mr. Edmonds, the third and fourth and Mr. Nazro, the fifth and sixth. The crews below the sixth, rowing early in the afternoon, were coached jointly by Mr. Nazro and Mr. Edmonds, each taking the lowest crews of one club for half a week and then exchanging. This season was remarkable in that for the first time in many years, the crews had to practice on the machines after returning for the Spring Term. We had seven days on the machines before the Spring Vacation and fifteen after it. April 14 was our first day on Long Pond. We lost three days of rowing during the season: one because of wind and one because of snow; the third was a “rowing holiday.”

Race Day was the forty-third day of rowing on the Pond. The weather was bright and reasonably cool, with a north-westerly breeze that varied continually both in direction and intensity. The conditions were fairly fast early in the afternoon on the last half-mile of the course. In the bay, however, there was always a crosswind, and, by the time the first crews raced, there was practically no wind at all on the first half mile of the course. The weather, therefore, was, on the whole, favorable to the oarsmen, for there was no undue heat to contend with and no head wind. But, except for the half-mile crews, conditions were not fast. That only one record was broken is, therefore, not surprising, and the Eighth Shattucks deserve credit for having broken a record that almost certainly was made in faster conditions than those of 1937.

FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY OF 1887

Our eight members who returned for this enjoyable reunion revived such pleasant memories of the old days that we all agreed, if it were possible, we would gladly go back into the early eighties and begin it all over again. We also resolved to meet again ten years hence.

We regretted the absence of Phil Rhinelander and Ben Crowell, both of whom wired at the last moment their inability to join us. Jim Westervelt, who was flying from California, could not get through, otherwise he would have had the Cup for the long distance trip. But our little crowd was a congenial one; the eight aggregated fifty-six years at School, two having entered the "Shell Form," three the First, two the Second and one the Third.

We lived in the upper floor of the Doctor's House where we found some congenial youngsters who were celebrating only their twenty-fifth.

On Friday we were at the Lower Grounds for the track games and later enjoyed tea at the Rectory. That evening was spent in reminiscing and in killing mosquitoes. On Saturday, Nat Saunders arrived unexpectedly. As two of our number had in their early days been great naturalists (Hammand and Starr), they persuaded the rest of us to accompany them on an expedition all over the place, through the “Everglades” and other marshes where they had once found choice botanical specimens, birds’ eggs, and all sorts of minerals. We found the names of some of our party on the big boulder at the “Gulf of Mexico” where we had carved them in 1882.

We had planned to play some cricket and baseball that morning, but after that dram Hen Corning (former third baseman at Harvard) found that he was unable to throw a ball over to first, so we spruced up for the alumni meeting after which we headed the parade to the Rectory.

The boat races were greatly enjoyed, but Ned Hammond (former Harvard oarsman) and Rene Cogswell (captain of a remarkable Shattuck crew in the ’80’s) thought the present system of rowing was not strenuous enough and they feared that the boys of this generation were apt to become softies in consequence. Had there been a pair-oar available, these two noted oarsmen would gladly have demonstrated to the coaches exactly what they meant by “strenuous rowing in the early days,” for they were much concerned. But after a longer discussion of the question with the coaches, they seemed satisfied and we may hope henceforth to see great improvement, for we all felt that it would be a terrible thing for the present generation of boys to degenerate into softies resulting from the lack of “strenuous rowing.” Three of us (Lampson, Tibbits and myself who had been masters at the School ranging from two to twenty-eight years) had often noticed this physical defect among the boys, but it took these two noted oarsmen to point out the real trouble before it was too late. The School owes to them a vote of thanks.

Our dinner was held at the Hopkinton Inn, during which old photographs and other memorabilia were exhibited. One of these was a ranking sheet of our First and Second form in Mr. Flint's faultless handwriting. A number of letters were read and many incidents in the prehistoric days were recalled. As to business, we took up the matter of the Debating Medal which our form had given on our Twenty-fifth Anniversary. We decided to endow this medal. It seems that two medals have been given each year, but our form did not mean that this should be the case. We give one medal.

On Sunday before the luncheon we assembled in the Old Chapel for a short service. A prayer was read by John Tibbits and the names of those of the form who had died were read by Jim Starr. Of the ninety-three members, sixty-three have died. For the rest of the day we visited friends, walked about hunting for familiar sights, and we visited the School Cemetery where lie many of those great men who did much to shape our characters.

Altogether our reunion was well worthwhile and seldom has a more understanding and congenial crowd gotten together. Let us hope that our Sixtieth will be better attended.

MALCOLM K. GORDON, '87.

40th ANNIVERSARY OF 1897

ALTHOUGH '97 mustered only seven of its old-timers for its 40th Anniversary, those seven fortunes were well repaid by the thrill and enjoyment of getting together again after the lapse of so many years. Several of us had not seen each other since graduation. John Morey was awarded the prize for coming the greatest distance, all the way from Denver. Charley Hickok travelled from Cleveland; George Cooke came from Philadelphia, Dudley Lawrence from Mount Kisco, Arthur Moore from Greenwich and Brad Johnson and Clarence West from New York.

Those who arrived on Friday spent the evening in renewing their old friendships, and, from Saturday morning on, the lucky seven didn't get far from each other except when they divided on opposite sides of Long Pond during the Boat Races. After the ceremony at the Flag Pole, we adjourned to the Concord Country Club for dinner and passed the evening in a most happy reunion, until told that it was time to close, with song, jest and story. Brad Johnson performed inimitably as master of ceremonies.

After the Anniversary services in the Chapel and the Anniversary Luncheon in the New Upper on Sunday, we departed our several ways, regretting that our visit had been so short and that many more of our form-mates had not turned up to join in the festivities.

CLARENCE E. WEST, '97.
1907's THIRTIETH ANNIVERSARY

1907 which was celebrating its 30th Anniversary had on hand twelve members of the Form, which is almost 20% of the present membership.

Archie Denny came on from Harvard, Mass. His wife came up Saturday and went back and came back again on Sunday. Pete Henderson came on from New York as did Louis Higgins. Larry Miller was on hand with his wife and one of his sons who is a "spittin" image of him. Culley Miller arrived with his wife in a large steam yacht on wheels and anchored same near some farmhouse. Unfortunately Mrs. Miller was not well and they had to get under way before the festivities were over.

Henry Reed and his wife came on from New York and he was surrounded by three little "bugs," one from Harvard and two at the school; one of them being No. 6 on the almost good enough Halcyon crew. Dudley James and the writer came up from Boston; Ed Harrah trekked 'way across the continent, and he has a son who is devoting his life to building a cannon—which I must say looks very formidable. Tom Reath and his wife came from Philadelphia and Charles Baird and his family from Virginia. The Bob Walkers came from Philadelphia and Howell Campbell made the journey from Hopkinton—quite a trip.

There were so many members of our families on hand that we had no regular dinner. Archie Denny, Dudley James and I dined at the Eagle, and afterwards looked over the Sixth Form Dance. It was really a very happy occasion and we were all glad to see each other and I am sorry that Frank Brainerd, Bob Kimball and John Hollister could not make it.

I understand that our Form was actually third in the Alumni Fund race, and if two of our members who had given the year before had repeated, we would have actually been in first place.

I could hardly believe that we were out thirty years and none of us looked very old or decrepit, and I hope that at our next Anniversary instead of having twelve on hand, we will have fifty and to anyone who has not seen the school recently, I can assure you that the trip will be worth while.

EVANS DICK, JR., '07.

TENTH ANNIVERSARY OF 1927

SUFFICIENT space is not available nor is the writer properly gifted to do justice to those two full but much too short days of our Tenth Reunion.

Our first member on the scene was Lieutenant Beirne Lay who zoomed over the track meet at the Lower Grounds on Friday afternoon to serve formal notice that the Class of 1927 was planning to be heard as well as seen. Our last arrival was none other than our determined and resourceful president who overcame unbelievable obstacles to reach the school on Saturday evening, twelve hours behind schedule but nevertheless a welcome addition to our number. Between these two impressive arrivals the rest of us straggled into Concord in more conventional fashion, twenty-eight in all. This was almost twice the record turnout for any previous Tenth Reunion Class and also, we believe, a record number for any reunion.

On Saturday morning the time was mostly spent in becoming reoriented to our surroundings and reacquainted with each other and our many friends at the school. There was a baseball game, which had to be called when everyone lost track of the score, which was less of a reflection on the Mathematics Department than on the ability of the players. The Alumni Meeting and Luncheon, the Alumni Parade and the Boat Races followed in rapid succession and you will find these events more capably reported elsewhere in this issue.

On Saturday evening we held the only event which was exclusive to our class, a picnic at Long Pond at which a capable staff from Nardini’s did a fine bit of catering. It was a gay and congenial gathering and marked the “High Spot” of two days that abounded in “High Spots.” We are not ashamed of the fact that we reminisced a great deal and Brink Kendall brought along a phonograph with many of the records that used to echo and re-echo through the halls of the New Upper. Have you heard those records of Moran and Mack, “Who,” “Sunny” and their contemporaries since you left school? You would be surprised at the vivid memories they recall. It was unanimously agreed that the picnic was a great success and we hope to carry out the same idea five years from now, so if you couldn’t make it this time, plan now to be there in 1942!

On Sunday there was the always stirring Anniversary Chapel Service and then the Anniversary Luncheon at the Upper School. At the Luncheon, two events, more fully detailed elsewhere in this issue, which gave us the most pleasure, were the unveiling of Mr. Brinley’s portrait and the awarding of the Masters Medal to Mr. John Richards. They alone were worth the trip to Concord this year. The rest of Sunday was free of scheduled events and each had the opportunity to pursue his own pleasure, seeing old friends, reconnoitering among the new buildings or swimming in the Lower School Pond. Although, inevitably, there were several familiar faces that were badly missed, every change that we could find was an improvement and we never uttered or heard that forlorn phrase “It’s not like the old days.”

JOHN HOLBROOK, ’27.

REUNION OF 1932

TWELVE members of the Form of 1932 returned to S.P.S. for their Fifth Reunion. They were R. F. Baum, H. Birckhead, P. N. DeRosset, O. H. Emmons, H. M. Hoyt, G. S. Jones, G. Lea, H. T. McKnight, E. Parish, A. H. Rice, A. O. Vietor, R. S. Walcott.

The Form first got together for the Alumni parade where the returning members fell in behind Hugh Birckhead who carried the large white placard which announced to all that this was the Form of ’32.

Outstanding in the group of returning alumni was Phil DeRosset, who pitched masterful baseball as the Alumni nine went down in defeat before the S.P.S. team. It was rumored later that the lanky moundsman had received little or no support from his teammates. At Long Pond, Alec Vietor was of service on the finish line and Seaver Jones managed to keep things humming in the Halcyon boat house.

After the races, the group convened at the flagpole where the idea of the much advertised Form picnic was given up because nearly everyone had other plans. The evening was spent in informal gatherings with Masters. On Sunday after Chapel, the Form put its stamp of approval on the new Study building and later attended the Alumni luncheon at the New Upper.

SUMMARY OF GIFTS TO ST. PAUL'S SCHOOL from June 4, 1936 to June 5, 1937

The Alumni Association of the School in continuing loyalty gave $7,500 from the Alumni Fund. The sum has been used for the scholarship support of sons of old boys at the School. Mr. and Mrs. Reeve Schley, '99, by a generous gift of $4,500, redecorated the Lower School dining room, in memory of their son, John P. Schley. Mrs. Charles Schweppe added $25,000 anonymously to a building fund created by her. Oliver P. Thompson, '03, of Des Moines gave $1,000 for general purposes. By a bequest of the late Rodman Paul Snelling, '77, of Boston, the Trustees have received the sum of $5,020. An anonymous donor has given $5,000 to create the Cornelia Wolcott Drury Aid, the income to be added to principle until the sum reaches $10,000; the income then to be used by the Rector for the benefit of neighbors and employees of the School. Frank H. Moss of Philadelphia gave $13,500 for a portal at the New Upper, in memory of Mrs. Moss. This portal is now completed. Mrs. F. Kingsbury Curtis of New York by a gift of $10,000 has set up the F. Kingsbury Curtis ('79) Memorial Fund, the income to be used for a needy student or students. Mrs. William J. Chalmers of Chicago gave $1,000 to provide altar flowers in memory of her son, Thomas Chalmers, '99. By bequest of Augustus B. Richardson, '08, of Toledo, Ohio, the sum of $9,300 has been received to create a scholarship bearing his name. The Trustees have received word of the bequest of $25,000 in the will of Alfred H. Swayne, '88, lately deceased. An anonymous donor has given $5,000 for reconstruction in the Big Study building. Robert C. Stanley of New York has given $2,000 for a convalescent room at the Infirmary. The Form of 1911, by a gift of $682, provided lectures in science during the past year. Other anonymous gifts totaling about $2,000 have been received.

PITTSBURGH ALUMNI MEETING

The annual St. Paul's Alumni Dinner was held at the Allegheny Country Club on May 14th. Forty-eight were present. The officers elected for 1937 are: J. Frederic Byers, '00, President; Augustus K. Oliver, '98, Vice-President; and A. Laughlin Alexander, '29, Secretary-Treasurer. At a golf tournament held in the afternoon, Henry V. Blaxter, Jr., '29, won the challenge cup, with Joseph W. Oliver, '26, winning the other prize. The Vice-rector, Mr. Kittredge, was present and gave a very interesting talk on the School's activities.
“MOTHER AND CHILD” BY A. VAN DYCK
Presented to the School by J. Frederic Byers, '00
VAN DYCK PAINTING PRESENTED TO SCHOOL

J.

Fredelic Byers, '00, has recently given a beautiful Van Dyck painting to the School, reproduced herewith, in memory of Mrs. Byers. It has been gratefully accepted by the Trustees of the School.

In presenting the painting Mr. Byers wrote about it as follows: "This painting is by A. Van Dyck and was purchased in 1900 from Lawrie & Co. in London. The painting has been examined by many experts and, with the exception of one, they all classify the painting as a Van Dyck, although one person expressed the opinion that it was from the hand of Bartolome Esteban Murillo. The title of the painting is 'Mother and Child' and is also known as 'Madonna and Child with Infant St. John.' The size of the canvas is 3' 8" by 4' 4" and the frame about six inches in width."

HONORARY DEGREE CONFERRED ON DR. DRURY

The University of Pennsylvania conferred the honorary degree of Doctor of Sacred Theology upon the Rector at Commencement on June 9th. The citation accompanying the degree read as follows:

"At once schoolmaster and servant of education, it has been your privilege to forge with true scholastic engineering the link between learning and living. With faith in the soul's nobility you have unlocked the heart of youth by an understanding comradeship, fitting boys for a race worthy of strong men. In the name of those who have been inspired by your example and teaching I confer on you the degree of Doctor of Sacred Theology."

ANNUAL ALUMNI MEETING

The Annual Meeting of the Alumni Association of St. Paul's School, was held in the Community House, at the School, on June 5th, 1937, at noon. After a prayer by Dr. Drury and an address of welcome, the Roll Call, and various Committee Reports appended herewith, there was considerable discussion about the character of the proposed Scudder Memorial. Mr. Harkness, reporting for this Committee, gave an outline of the large number of suggestions that had been filed; and a resolution was finally offered and passed, authorizing the Scudder Memorial Committee to develop and act upon a plan. The opinion of the Meeting was that this Memorial should be in the form of a permanent building.

Mr. Christopher Thomas, the instructor in music at the School since 1932, was duly elected a member of the Alumni Association.

President Tucker spoke briefly, thanking various Committee Chairmen for their work, particularly Leonard Sullivan, '04, the Chairman of the Alumni Fund, for an outstanding record.

The Officers for the ensuing year and the members of the Standing Committee were then duly elected. (These officers and members appear on the last page of this issue.)

President Tucker then appointed the Committee on Nominations for the ensuing year to consist of John C. Jay, '97, Chairman; Charles E. Adams, '00; Edward D. Toland, '04; Eugene V. Connell, 3d, '08; and Grayson M.-P. Murphy, '26. He appointed John Watts, '24, as Chairman of the 1937 Hockey Committee with power to appoint the other members of his committee; and appointed Arthur E. Neergaard, '99, Chairman, and E. Laurence White, '03, Vice-chairman of the 1937 Alumni Fund Committee, with power to appoint the other members of the committee.

Edward D. Toland, '04, Secretary and Clerk.

The complete list of the standing of all forms will be published in the July issue of the ALUMNI HORAE.

The Committee met once at luncheon during the year, on November 9, 1936, at which time plans were discussed for raising the 1937 Fund.

The Form Agents’ Dinner was held on December 16, 1936, the night before the annual hockey game, at the University Club in New York City and there were twenty-nine agents present. Dr. Drury, fortunately, was able to be with us and was a great inspiration to all.

All stationery was in the hands of the agents by the first of January.

The Committee regrets to record the death of two form agents — Marcus T. Reynolds, form agent for 1886, and Albert B. Strange, form agent for 1890, whose form stood at the head of the list in 1936. These are real losses.

As retiring Chairman, it should not be out of place for me at this time to outline briefly certain observations and suggestions that may prove of value for the future.

It has been a policy that the Alumni Fund is primarily to maintain the interest of the Alumni in St. Paul's School, and it should not under any circumstances be considered a drive or campaign for funds. It is the opinion of your Chairman and Committee that this basic policy should be continued. At present, of the 3881 Old Boys, 40.14% subscribe. The effort should be made to raise this percentage to as high a point as possible. The Committee has tried to carry out this policy and in furthering it we feel that any method that can increase the personal solicitation among Alumni should be fostered. We all receive countless appeals for funds through the mail and in consequence form agents are required to write repeated letters before receiving a response. This is not only a burden to the form agents but is an added expense. This added outlay might easily come to the School in the form of a larger subscription.

It has been found that where agents can speak to form-mates by 'phone or a personal call, they invariably get immediate results. With this in mind, the Committee now appoints three agents from each graduating class, one from each of the three colleges—Yale, Harvard and Princeton. In these cases no letter writing is required and the results have been most gratifying. Further, by this method, the boys become fund-conscious from the start.

The Committee suggested to the form agents that they appoint assistant agents or co-agents. The form of 1907 has done this for the past two years with great success.

Four members were added to the Committee this year from Chicago, Boston, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia. Mr. Dewey, together with Mr. Ellis, arranged a luncheon in Chicago at which twenty-five Alumni were present. Dr. Drury very kindly permitted Mr. Harman, master at the School, to be present. At the Alumni Luncheon in Pittsburgh, Mr. Byers and Mr. Scully were permitted to speak briefly about the Fund. Through unforeseen circumstances gatherings were not held in Boston or Philadelphia but the members of the Committee, Messrs. Evans Dick and Jay Cooke, rendered helpful service.

This has been the second year that the Fund has closed as of Anniversary time and I think all are in agreement that this is a far better plan than having the Fund dragging on throughout the year. The Committee recommends that this procedure be continued as well as the other points mentioned above.

The Committee recommends to its successors further that an endeavor be made to make possible more personal solicitation than has been used in the past. The majority of the form agents carry a heavy burden and where it is possible to relieve them of this burden through local assistance in far-off cities I feel sure that it will be possible to receive subscriptions from over 50% of the living Alumni if the following plan is carried out. There are 25 cities where there are between 15 and 35 Alumni. (Communities that lie just outside the larger cities have not been included.) It would be a very easy matter for the Committee to select the most consistent subscriber in each of these cities, furnish him a list prepared at the office of those not subscribing, and ask him to telephone or personally call upon these Alumni. The men appointed in these cities would not ask for funds but urge that the Alumni send in their subscriptions to their own form agents. They would also determine whether or not there are any Alumni in these cities who have no further interest in St. Paul's School.

The Committee also further recommends that there be appointed a Vice-chairman as well as a Chairman of the Fund.

In closing I wish to thank all form agents for their splendid work for without their interest and devotion to the School the figures herewith presented to you would not be possible. The members of the Committee have also made their contribution and it has been a pleasure to have their assistance and guidance. I should like to speak also of the splendid work that has been done by Mr. West and Miss Fisher. Their promptness in handling all the operations of the Fund in the New York office is greatly appreciated and their loyalty is unquestioned.

I shall be very glad to assist in any way the work to be carried on by my successor, for it has been a sincere pleasure to be able to serve St. Paul's School.

June 5, 1937.

LEONARD SULLIVAN, Chairman.

CURIOUS AND HISTORIC TREES AT THE SCHOOL

It may be of interest to note that a collection of historic trees is being made and that they are being planted in various parts of our grounds with the thought that in the years to come they will be an interesting addition to our school life and atmosphere. They are the direct descendants of trees that have been the scene of events and stories connected with our country’s history and also a few connected with foreign events. Among them are:

The William Penn Treaty Elm under which at Shamaxon, Pa., two hundred and fifty-five years ago, Penn made the treaty with the Delaware Indians for the purchase of Pennsylvania, a treaty that has never been broken.

The Daniel Webster Elm from his residence at Franklin, N. H. It is one hundred and seventy-five years old. Webster was very fond and proud of it.

The George Washington Cherry Tree from his boyhood home on the Rappahannock River at Fredericksburg, Va. This is the one he is said to have cut down with his little hatchet when a boy. Its descendants still live.

Charter Oak from Hartford, Conn., in which the charter was hidden to keep it from the British.

Washington Elm from Valley Forge, Pa., at his Headquarters there.

Ivy from Mt. Vernon.

From foreign shores are willow trees from Napoleon’s grave at St. Helena, brought to this country in 1847. From the Royal Botanic Gardens at Kew, England, come some scions of Shakepeare’s mulberry tree at Stratford-on-Avon. Under it he often sat and probably wrote his last play, “The Tempest.” It is more than three hundred years old and fortunately was preserved at Kew for future generations.

A Glastonbury thorn, the holy tree of Joseph of Arimathea, has twice been planted in the last few years but, alas, it does not seem able to withstand the rigors of the New England climate. This also was the case with a Franklinia, or Lost Tree, which was salvaged from Georgia by John Bartram in 1804. Shortly after he took his cuttings, it perished from the face of the earth and has never been found in any part of the world. No one knows to what family it belongs.

In addition to the above there is an eudonia from Eastern China. It bears a beautiful flower like a wisteria. From Eastern China there is also a ginkgo, a survival of trees that at one time covered almost the entire surface of the habitable world.

It is hoped that other trees, like the deodar from India and our own beautiful mountain ash, will be acquired soon. As the years go by, these trees will add not only beauty but interest to our already lovely grounds.
