The Work Program in Action. This picture, from a series taken at the School by Stephen Michael, shows boys on a winter afternoon nesting the walls of the squash court. It will be observed to have something of the form and balance of an abstract modern painting.
Dear Alumni:

What should we do without the faithful Miss Fisher and the unfailing Augie Hecksher? Both keep a sharp eye on the calendar and when the time comes they send us notice, in what Dr. Drury used to call "splendid imperatives," of the deadline for The Rector’s Letter and The School in Action. This time Augie's note caught me in Barnstable, down at eel-grass level; so instead of looking out over fields of ancient snow as I write, I look at bare brown fields and listen to the song sparrows and the robins.

I went back a few days ago, though, to be on hand for the hearing before the City Council on the question of opening Long Pond for boating and fishing—virtually a matter of life and death so far as this year's rowing is concerned. Mr. Frank Sulloway, who has been taking care of the School's interests from the beginning, was there too; so was Mr. Potter, our Business Manager, and a number of masters and at least a thousand other citizens. The crowd completely filled the big Concord Auditorium, balcony and all. The Mayor, the City Manager and the City Clerk sat on the stage, with the Council, in whose hands our fate lies, ranged behind them. When, a month or six weeks ago, Mr. Sulloway petitioned this body that the Pond be opened, they very properly asked for the opinion of the Board of Health. The Board recommended by a vote of 2-1 that boating and fishing be allowed on the southern end of the Pond for the space of about a mile. The Council then met and a tie vote resulted. The next step was the Hearing. Mr. Sulloway and I presented the case for the School, and a young lawyer, Mr. Upton, spoke for the fishermen. For the next hour and a half or so, various citizens spoke on one side or the other. The Council will meet and vote again on April 14th.

The most encouraging element in the Hearing was that it showed Democracy at work—much as it works in a Town Meeting. But the sentiment of the majority of the thousand citizens was clearly against opening the Pond. If the Council uses reason and has courage, we shall win. But I am not hopeful. The result will be known long before this copy of the Alumni Horae reaches you. If Long Pond remains closed, we shall see what we can do with Big Turkey, a poor substitute indeed.

As you will see when you read The School in Action, we have had another winter of poor ice—poor and spasmodic. But youth has a way of turning misfortune to its advantage; the fact that there was frequently no skating threw the boys on their own resources far more than usual, with the result that Mr. Healy's Manual Arts Shop and Mr. Abbe’s Studio Workshop were buzzing with activity, and Mr. Barker was running a three-ring circus on both floors of the old Hall. Again, what a blessing the new Memorial Hall proved to be by freeing the first floor of the old building for a sort of supplementary gymnasium. Other boys took to the Library or read quietly in their rooms, for most boys like to read, and manage to get in a good deal of it in spite of our close-fitting schedule. In one way and another, then, they made good use of the time that in other years they would have spent on the rinks. But we are hoping for colder winters from now on.

Before we know it, another Anniversary will be with us. We count on you to come back and see us and to bring your families with you—your sons for a preview of their School; your wives for a close look at the scenes of your youthful activities—intellectual and otherwise.

Barnstable, Mass.
April 3, 1952.

Yours sincerely,
HENRY C. KITTREDGE.

THE SCHOOL IN ACTION

About halfway through the Christmas Vacation the School Pond froze over with about three inches of good black ice. Then a foot of snow fell, and our troubles began. No machinery or horses could venture out on the rinks, and there was too much snow to remove by hand. Such was the picture when the boys came back from their holidays, and a sorry picture it was. About the only thing that could be done was to chop holes in the ice and pump water up on top of the snow, in the hope that some sort of frozen surface would result.
If this didn't work, we planned to build two rinks on the lawn behind the Lower School Study. After some days with no skating at all, the first plan began to bear fruit—of a sort. Shell ice appeared, a frozen mixture of snow and water, but the boys skated on it, and it was certainly better than nothing. If the winter had been steadily cold, indeed, we should have done pretty well; but the weather was unsettled, with alternate warm and cold periods, and a great amount of snow. It is doubtful whether the oldest inhabitant can remember a season when we had less skating.

Even so, the School Team was able to play all its games and won them all except that with Belmont Hill, a remarkable team, perhaps the best of any preparatory school in New England. The Club games were all finished, too—albeit in order to make sure, we turned one morning into an afternoon so that games could be played before the ice melted too much. The regular classes were then held after lunch. The Isthmi ans won, with the Old Hundreds next, and the Delphians trailing. A pleasant and novel introduction to our hockey season came in the form of a visit from the U. S. Olympic Hockey Team. They spent several nights as guests of masters and played a game against a team composed of masters and boys. To the surprise of nobody, the visitors were victors.

Quite naturally, in view of conditions on the Pond, a larger number of boys than usual turned to skiing. On many Wednesdays a special bus was on hand to take boys to Sunapee, where the State has developed first-rate facilities for all sorts of skiing; and to give the boys as much time there as possible, Miss Van Dyke had box lunches for them, so that they might eat on the way. Locally, the favorite spot was the east slope of Prospect Hill. Mr. Coffin, who had charge there, suggested that a day's work with a bulldozer and some vigorous swinging of brush scythes would make it into a really first-class slope; and our good friend, Mrs. John G. Winant, who owns the hill, has kindly given us her permission to go ahead. As soon as the frost is out of the ground, therefore, the work will go forward, no doubt as one of the projects of the Work Programme.

Squash and basketball were in full swing too, each with a number of outside games in which we fared variously. The Squash Courts, after having stood up manfully for almost forty years, are now in need of extensive repairs. Perhaps the means for this important work will be forthcoming if some of our old squash players are aware of our need. The basketball players, as usual, made up in enthusiasm for what they lacked in numbers, and when at the top of their form, as they were in the game with Brooks, they were a team to be proud of. We also had a club basketball series which provided welcome occupation during the thaws.

The high spots in the realm of lectures and entertainments were the visit of the University Glee Club; John Jay's skiing movies and lecture, and Mr. Mark Starr's talk on Labor and its Role in the Community. The University Glee Club is a group of men who must be the most spontaneous singers in the United States. Never satisfied with their scheduled performances, they sang everywhere and at all times, and gave a lift to the term that it could have received in no other way. John Jay's lecture and pictures of skiing were, as always, a tremendous drawing card that filled every seat in the new Memorial Hall. Mr. Mark Starr is Educational Director of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union, and his talk, based as it naturally was on a firm belief in the virtues of Labor Unions in general and the American Federation of Labor in particular, produced a lively and intelligent reaction in the form of a barrage of questions from the floor. The evening left us all broader minded than we had been when it began.

The term saw also the conclusion of the series of lectures arranged and given by the History and English Departments—the second of the Adult Education Courses which the School has held and thrown open to the public. This programme is useful in keeping us on our mettle intellectually and also in showing our Concord neighbors that we like to see them at the School whenever they will come.
The Midwinter Holiday produced a larger number of girls than we have ever had before, a wider variety of entertainments at the Missionary Society's Fair, and a first-rate show: "The Doctor in Spite of Himself." This festive week-end, aside from its obvious pleasures, served as inspiration for the best cartoon that has ever appeared in the Pelican: it was entitled "Sunday: Dance Week-End." If you missed it, look it up. It is well worth the effort. The boys are planning a Spring Dance, but it will be a simple affair, chiefly noteworthy as the first time that Fourth Formers have been allowed a definite share in the festivities. Up to date their only privilege has been to serve as waiters at the dinner-dance in the Upper School dining room.

The end of the term was enlivened by two events. The first was a spirited performance of Thornton Wilder's "Skin of Our Teeth" by the Master Players, a group that never fails to please. The second was the arrival of the New Hampshire Primaries right on our doorstep. The enthusiasm among the boys was tremendous. We had a rally and a series of speeches as well; and when Senator Taft arrived in town two husloads of the older boys piled in to hear him—with one repercussion that appeared in the New York Times and the London Daily Mail, thanks to Fifth Former John Bunyan, of London, who from the floor asked the Senator why he was making a misstatement about England! The School straw ballot was heavily in favor of the General.

All in all it was a good term, albeit a hard one, a term that once again proved the truth of the maxim that we know so well—a school is as good as its masters. On this occasion a lot of credit should go to the Council, too, a group at once intelligent, resourceful and courageous. They kept their perspective accurately through thaws and freezes alike, and maintained a high degree of practical loyalty and devotion.

1856 NINETY-SIXTH ANNIVERSARY 1952

Anniversary this year will be on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, May 30th and 31st and June 1st. Alumni are requested to send their acceptances to the School's invitation as promptly as possible. As accommodations at the School during Anniversary are limited, a considerable amount of planning in advance is necessary to provide for the Alumni. The School does not make reservations at hotels or boarding houses. Alumni who intend to bring their wives, children or other members of their families should make their arrangements independently. Coolidge M. Chapin, '35, is in general charge of Anniversary.

The forms holding reunions this year, with their chairmen are:

- 1892 — 60th Anniversary, Eugene D. Alexander
- 1897 — 55th Anniversary, Francis Donaldson
- 1902 — 50th Anniversary, H. LeRoy Whitney
- 1907 — 45th Anniversary, Robert C. Walker
- 1912 — 40th Anniversary, Frederic C. Wheeler
- 1917 — 35th Anniversary, Howland B. Jones
- 1922 — 30th Anniversary, Albert Tilt, Jr.
- 1927 — 25th Anniversary, Laurance B. Rand
- 1932 — 20th Anniversary, Percy Preston
- 1937 — 15th Anniversary, Colton P. Wagner
- 1942 — 10th Anniversary, Daniel B. Brewster, Jr.
- 1947 — 5th Anniversary, Louis W. Pemberton

REPORT ON REGIONAL ALUMNI MEETINGS
During the past six months representatives of the School have visited sixteen cities where they spoke about the School to approximately 800 people.

Mr. Kittredge went to five cities, beginning in Hartford on October 23rd where he attended a dinner at the Country Club which had been arranged by Paul W. Cooley, '26. Two days later he spoke to a group in the Westbury, Long Island, home of Henry A. Wilmerding, Jr., '25. On January 19th the Rector left the School for a ten-day swing through Chicago, St. Louis, and Minneapolis. In Chicago his host was John P. Wilson, Jr., '24, Regional Chairman of the Alumni Association, who arranged a luncheon for Alumni in the city and a general evening meeting in Lake Forest.

John S. Pillsbury, Jr., '31, a member of the Board of Trustees, made the plans for the Rector's visit January 23rd to Minneapolis, while Harry F. Langenberg, '27, served as the chairman of a planning committee for his stop in St. Louis two days later. Mrs. Kittredge accompanied the Rector on his trips which, according to all reports, were most successful not only in bringing word about the School to parents who had had no previous direct acquaintance with it, but also in taking recent news of the School to many Alumni.

On November 6th and 7th Mr. Lloyd visited Morristown, New Jersey, where he showed the School movie and answered questions about the School for a hundred and fifty people, the greatest number to attend a meeting during the year. Plans for his visit were made by E. Newton Cutler, Jr., '33, and E. Esty Stowell, '30, while the meeting was held at the home of Paul Moore, Sr., '04, and Mrs. Moore.

Horace F. Henriques, '17, was Mr. Lloyd's host in Greenwich on November 8th and 9th, when he spoke before a large group of people gathered at the Field Club. In Philadelphia on November 15th and 16th Mr. Lloyd showed the movie and spoke about the School at a dinner at the Sunnybrook Club. William G. Foulke, '30, acted as chairman of the committee in making plans for Mr. Lloyd's visit to Philadelphia.

On March 9th, 1952 Gilbert Lea, '32, and C. Pardee Foulke, '25, were hosts for a meeting in Princeton, N. J., where Mr. Lloyd talked about the School.

Mr. Oates visited Atlanta, Georgia, on November 8th and 9th to address a dinner meeting that had been arranged by Jackson P. Dick, Jr., '37, which was held in the Parish House of All Saints Church, of which the Rev. Matthew M. Warren, the Rector-elect of St. Paul's School, is at present Rector.

Mr. Archer Harman, Jr., '41, spoke to a gathering of Alumni and interested parents on October 30th in Baltimore where his host was W. Wallace Lanahan, Jr., '36.

Charles P. Stevenson, '37, was chairman of a meeting in Buffalo November 12th at which Coolidge M. Chapin, '35, talked about the School, while two days later Mr. Chapin visited Rochester for a dinner meeting that had been arranged by Daniel M. Beach, Jr., '20.

An innovation this year were the visits of Mr. Oates to Boston, New York, and Pittsburgh to hold office hours for Alumni and interested parents and to visit the local schools which in the past have sent boys to St. Paul's. No formal dinner or meeting was held. The response indicated the value of this type of visit on occasion. In New York the local Alumni group assisted Mr. Oates with his plans, while in Boston Samuel H. Wolcott, '29, rendered valuable help. John F. Walton, Jr., '12 and J. Frederic Byers, Jr., '32, gave Mr. Oates valuable assistance in Pittsburgh.

It is most gratifying to note the fine enthusiasm of the local chairmen and Alumni. The result of their activity and interest has been a marked increase in the number of well qualified boys applying for admission to the School.

THE 1951 NEW YORK HOCKEY GAME
ST. PAUL'S 5 — ANDOVER 3
MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, DECEMBER 19

Last winter's hockey game was a success from every angle. In the first place, the School team came from behind in a very convincing fashion to win by an easy margin of 2 goals. In the second place, the net receipts, which will shortly be turned over to the St. Paul's School Camp for underprivileged boys, are 60% greater than last year. This year's contributions to the Camp will be $4,621.60 as compared to $2,886 last year.

Part of this sizeable increase was due to the fact that our opponents were another school rather than college freshmen, and the balance due to a favorable ruling from the Bureau of Internal Revenue on admissions taxes. This tax refund was made possible by some hard work by certain legal-minded New York Alumni. To them the Hockey Committee gives most heartfelt thanks.
This picture of the S.P.S. team is dated; for in the background is seen the annex of the old School House. This has now been torn down.

Next winter we are faced with December 17th as a date and (rumor has it) Princeton Freshmen as an opponent. This combination of an early date plus a college opponent can, as we have pointed out before, affect receipts adversely. Nothing can be done about the date, but for the sake of the camp we still hope for a school opponent. Failing that, we shall need some new ideas to get more people to the game.

Those following S.P.S. hockey this year know the sad story of "the missing black ice." As a matter of fact, the School as a whole was very lucky to get any ice at all, due to the unusual problem of too much snow falling on too little ice during the Christmas vacation. The net result was the worst ice in years, in spite of a "good" winter as far as cold temperatures were concerned. With the warm winter of 1950-51 still in mind and the near tragic 1951-52 season firmly with us, the Hockey Committee would like once again to ask for consideration for an inexpensive, covered, artificial ice rink. St. Paul's School has built up an enviable reputation for excellence in ice hockey. We old time hockey players feel it would indeed be a shame to lose that reputation: yet we are losing it and will continue to do so unless we are blessed with clear cold winters forever—or unless we do something about a rink.

The tea dance for the team and the young ladies of the Program Committee was made possible this year by the generosity of a small group of local Alumni. Perhaps it could be enlarged to include more members of the School and Alumni and a charge for attendance might further help the School Camp.

Following the tea, a father-and-son hockey dinner was held for the second year in succession. Fathers and sons re-played hockey games of former years—the winning games, that is; and it is hoped S.P.S. fathers and sons will continue this happy custom for many years to come—with or without artificial ice.

MALCOLM E. McALPIN, '26
Chairman, Hockey Committee
THE FORM AGENTS' DINNER

The Annual Form Agents’ Dinner was held in New York at the Racquet Club on the evening of Thursday, January 17th. In spite of a heavy traveling schedule for January, the Rector was able to attend, departing late that night for a Trustees’ Meeting in Boston. Besides Mr. Kittredge, there were thirty-four Form Agents on hand for the occasion.

Albert Francke, Jr., '20, chairman of the Alumni Fund Committee, was very happy in being able to state that during the past year the amount of the General Alumni Fund, $34,864.30, was the largest ever raised, and that the combined General and 25th Anniversary Funds, $40,000,14, were the largest of any year since 1925. He congratulated the Form Agents present on the splendid results achieved.

Mr. Francke then introduced two new agents, Francis Donaldson, '97, and Jacqueline A. Swords, '25, adding that, with only three or four exceptions, the organization remained intact for 1952, causing him to be hopeful of an excellent year.

The Chairman then spoke about a problem which has existed for many years. There are a number of Alumni who left the School for one reason or other before graduating and who, by their complete indifference to all correspondence on the part of the Form Agents, lend credence to the assumption that they have no interest in St. Paul’s. He stated that it had been decided in a committee meeting that any Alumnus (1) who had been out of School fifteen years; (2) and who had never contributed to the Alumni Fund; (3) and who did not reach a form higher than the Fourth; (4) and who would sign a statement saying that he wished to be dropped, will not be counted in the Alumni Fund percentages. There was considerable discussion from the floor regarding this statement, a number of men feeling that, regardless of when men left the School or why, such Alumni should be counted as they often became good contributors; however, there was no actual dissent from the committee’s conclusion.

The Chairman introduced the Rector who opened his remarks by saying that it was always a pleasure to be present, that he had been invited nine months ago but, even if he had not been invited, he would have come! He said that the Alumni Fund gifts like many others which go straight to him for disposition, are evidently motivated by strong personal feeling, giving him great satisfaction as they show that the Alumni and friends of the School appreciate what is being done at the School.

Mr. Kittredge went on to say that it was becoming increasingly clear that the duties of the headmaster of a school require enthusiasm and ideals, the qualities of a young man. For this reason, as well as many others, he was very happy in the knowledge that Mr. Warren had agreed to take over for him. He added that it was well for a Church school to be under the guidance of a clergyman, and went on to tell how hard it sometimes is to obtain the best possible masters for the School. To illustrate this, he related stories by F. B. White, the Right Reverend Norman Nash and the Right Reverend Angus Dun. He concluded his remarks by saying that the gratitude of the School for the intangible support that the School receives from the knowledge that the Form Agents exist is beyond words to express.

Following the Rector’s talk, the agents heard from several of their group, including the following: Copley Amory, ’34, Clarence H. Young, ’01, Colton Wagner, ’37, David N. Barrows, ’04, Frank J. Solloway, ’00, Francis Donaldson, ’97, Marshall Dodge, ’29, and Adolph G. Rosengarten, Jr., ’23. Shortly thereafter the Chairman thanked the agents for attending and the dinner ended in the singing of “Salve Mater.”

Those present besides the Rector and the Form Agents mentioned were: Richard A. Zerega, ’83, Arthur S. Pier, WHY SHOULD AN ALUMNUS CONTRIBUTE TO THE S.P.S. ALUMNI FUND?

EDITOR'S NOTE: This article is the result of the collaboration of an Alumni committee and the School Treasurer, Thomas Rodd, '31, in an effort to clarify the financial picture of the School for the benefit of Alumni.

The Alumni of St. Paul's School have always been noted, in greater degree than the alumni of any other school or college, for their love of the School and their great loyalty to it. The Alumni Association strengthens and helps to keep alive this interest of the Alumni in the School by arranging in various cities School dinners, School church services, and the annual hockey game in New York at the beginning of the Christmas vacation. Through the Alumni Horae, which it publishes three times a year, it also keeps the Alumni in touch with the School and with each other. In these ways, the Alumni Association is valuable to the School.

The Alumni Association is even more valuable to the School. At its New York office and its office at the School, it maintains all the records of Alumni and constantly keeps them up to date. From its office at the School, with its own addressing and mailing machines, all notices to Alumni are sent out for the School free of charge. It also addresses mailings for the Horae Scholasticae and Pelican. The Alumni Association is entirely independent of the School and runs its own show, but without its help, the School would have to buy addressing machines, filing equipment, and hire clerical employees to maintain its Alumni records and process its mailings. If we agree that the above activities of the Alumni Association are truly valuable, both to the School and to the Alumni, then they are worth supporting financially.

Current annual contributions to the Alumni Fund for the last few years have been running at the rate of approximately $30,000, and represent contributions from about 50% of the Alumni. This compares very favorably with other schools, such as Andover and Exeter, where only about 25% of the Alumni contribute annually.

Many questions have arisen at this time in view of the substantial bequests which the School either has received or expects to receive in the near future.

A simple answer would be to state the obvious fact that the School cannot stand still if it is to maintain its place as one of the great preparatory schools and to continue to set the standard for the best kind of secondary education in the broadest sense of the term. The School can never assume that it has enough scholarship funds, that its masters are paid as much as their abilities deserve, that its retirement plan is the best available, or that its plant and equipment—residential, educational and athletic—are beyond improvement. This is a fundamental answer to the question, but the story of the School's financial situation in general terms may be of interest.

For a number of years subsequent to the war the School operated at a loss and during this period used up almost all of its once substantial specific reserve funds, as well as a part of its unrestricted endowment funds. In the school year 1950-51 there was an operating surplus of $4,300, representing the actual cash income received in excess of expenses, which for the first time in many years included a small reserve for "depreciation" and replacement of equipment and buildings. In other words, the School just about broke even, although during this year it received the full benefit of one of its largest bequests—the Edward S. Harkness Fund. Much of this additional income was absorbed by an essential increase of 10% in all masters' salaries, a comparable increase in maintenance and service salaries and wages on a reclassification basis, and by the School’s share of Social Security taxes which were applicable to educational institutions for the first time.

The second bequest was the Webster Scholarship Fund of $390,000, the income from which is restricted to providing full scholarships to exceptional boys under certain rather special conditions. This and other new scholarship funds which have been received recently increase the total income available for scholarships to almost $60,000 each year at current rates of return. This is a substantial amount, but no one can predict whether it will suffice in future years to meet the scholarship needs if the School is to continue to make available its facilities to boys of the character and ability it wants. One thing should be borne in mind about scholarship income—when the School is at capacity, as it is now, such income does not increase the income of the School, but is offset by a reduction in the income from tuition charges; in other words, while the School is greatly benefited in every other way, it does not necessarily benefit economically.

The School expects a third large bequest in the future under the will of H. Sylvia A. H. G. Wilks, but no distribution has been made to date. When this fund is finally established, the annual income therefrom may approximate $80,000. While no one can predict the exact purposes for which this income will have to be used, there are certain undeniable facts which the School must face now or in the near future. The teaching profession as such is lower paid than the members of most other professions. If we are to have the best possible teaching for the boys and the highest caliber of master, it is inevitable that more money will have to go to masters' salaries. While the School's Pension Plan is more generous in ultimate benefits than that of most other similar institutions, these benefits, like salaries, are small by other standards of comparison. In addition, the plan is only to a small extent funded and in this and other ways it might and perhaps should be improved; such improvements are expensive. The constantly rising cost of food, fuel, service and maintenance of the existing plant will absorb much of this new income. As pointed out, the School has merely a nominal reserve for "depreciation" and at this stage of the game would have to depend on its unrestricted endowment funds in case of need. For example, when one of the rather obsolete boilers in the power plant finally completes its useful life, which will be in the next few years, the replacement cost of this one item alone, for which there is no provision, will exceed $50,000. In addition, the Middle's useful days as a building are numbered, the gymnasium is inadequate and the rising ratio of married masters, with and without children, has created a critical housing problem. The School must conserve all the income it can if it is to keep to a minimum the need of going to the Alumni for funds to meet capital expenditures.

As we all know, the School has not avoided, nor does it intend to avoid, its responsibility for using its income efficiently. In 1948 a management consultant firm surveyed the School's operations with the result that economies were effected which save more than $60,000 in expenses annually. The Boy Work program has been developed almost to the limits feasible without adversely affecting the School's educational and athletic activities. The Trustees have been able to resist the easy answer of increasing the tuition charge which remains lower than practically all of the School's competitors and which is many hundreds of dollars less than the actual "cost" per boy.

If the School is to continue as a leader in its field—and, we all hope, the leader—it must have the continued financial as well as the moral support of its Alumni. Throughout its history, the School has depended on its endowment income and its Alumni contributions to assist it in providing the best kind of education and every boy, past and present, has benefited. The Alumni Fund is actually a form of endowment and its contribution to the School of $20,000 last year is the equivalent of the income on half a million dollars invested at 4%. This does not include the amount spent for the Alumni Association's own activities and services which are also necessary to the work of the School. The School has, if you like, "invested" more in each one of its Alumni than it has received and it is the return on this investment on which the School's future rests.

1952 ALUMNI FUND

One of our new Form Agents, Francis Donaldson, '97, has prepared a chart, based on the results of the 1951 Alumni Fund, showing the comparative percentage standing of the various forms, which I think will be of interest to all Alumni. We are therefore reproducing it in this issue of the ALUMNI HORA E for your information. It is not done with the intention of praising or criticizing any particular group, but because it shows graphically the ranking of the various forms and may aid our 1952 effort.
I should like to call the attention of all Alumni also to an article which is printed elsewhere in this number of the magazine entitled, "Why Should an Alumnus Contribute to the S.P.S. Alumni Fund?" This was originally prepared for the benefit of the Form Agents and was read at the Form Agents' Dinner. It created so much interest that the Alumni Fund Committee was asked to have it broadcast to all Alumni.

The results of the 1952 Alumni Fund thus far are most encouraging. As of the date this is written, April 15th, we are glad to report a total of 944 contributions, amounting to $23,508.51. A comparison of the corresponding date last year shows that we have 10 more contributions and are ahead in amount by $5,688.51. Part of this increase in amount is due to the fact that the Form of 1927 has already contributed $3,132.72 toward its 25th Anniversary Gift to the School, while at this time last year the 25th Anniversary contributions had not yet begun to come in. We can only hope that the 1952 Alumni Fund will continue to increase on the present basis.

The Alumni Fund officially closes September 15, 1952, but we naturally wish to have as good a showing as possible at Anniversary. Herewith we give an interim report of the standing of each form at present with the names and addresses of all Form Agents. As can easily be seen from the report, some of the agents wait until the late spring before sending out their first letter. Other agents have already received more contributions than they had at the close of the campaign last year. In the event you have not heard from your Form Agent, you may send your contribution direct to him without waiting for his letter.

NEW YORK CHURCH SERVICE

The annual St. Paul's School Church Service in New York was held at the Church of the Heavenly Rest, Fifth Avenue at 90th Street on Sunday afternoon, April 20th. The Rev. John E. Large, D.D., the Rector, conducted the service, and the Rev. Matthew M. Warren, Rector-elect of the School, preached the sermon. The lesson was read by William Emery, III, President of the Sixth Form, who came down from the School with the Rector, Mr. Kittredge, to attend the service.

Included in the music sung by the choir were Mr. Knox's School anthem, "O Pray for the Peace of Jerusalem"; the hymn "Love Divine, All Loves Exceeding," as well as the "Last Night" hymn, "Saviour, Source of Ev'ry Blessing"; and the Stainer Sevenfold Amen, all so familiar to old St. Paul's boys.

Dr. Large welcomed the St. Paul's family to his church and expressed his pleasure at the opportunity of having Mr. Warren, whom he had known at the Virginia Theological Seminary, preach from his pulpit.

Mr. Warren, after a few happy remarks on the prospect of becoming Rector of St. Paul's, preached a fine Eastertide sermon on the "Possibilities of the Resurrection—Then and Now." He showed that the modern Christian idea of the Messiah is often as mistaken as that of the ancient Jews. In our worship of success we are in danger of forgetting that man learns from his failures rather than from his successes. The Resurrection is possible only after the Cross of Good Friday.

Dr. Large announced that the offering at this service would be presented to the St. Paul's School Camp for underprivileged boys at Danbury, New Hampshire.

The largest gathering in recent years of Alumni, their families, parents and friends of the School filled the church almost to capacity. Immediately after the service, a most enjoyable tea and reception was given in the Parish House by Percy L. Hance, '09, the Church Service Chairman, and Mrs. Hance. All who attended the service were invited to the tea and more than three hundred and fifty members of the New York group of the St. Paul's family remained to greet Mr. Kittredge and Mr. and Mrs. Warren.

Serving on Mr. Hance's committee on arrangements were the following:

EDITORIALS

The news that John B. Edmonds, ’19, is leaving the School, to take up residence in an old farmhouse near Andover, Mass., brings regret in many circles where his influence has been strong. Not least of these is the Alumni Association and the ALUMNI HORAE. Mr. Edmonds was Assistant Secretary and Clerk of the Association from 1930 to 1945; and Secretary and Clerk from then to the present. No one who has had any relations with him in these matters can have failed to benefit from his clear opinions, his deeply-based convictions and his conscientious service. To receive a letter from John Edmonds, even on some small problem of administrative detail, has invariably been a delight. The beautiful handwriting reflects a perfectly ordered mind and a rooted moral sense. On the ALUMNI HORAE he has been an invaluable editor, not only bringing news of the School but lending his counsel to every aspect of the work. It is hard to thank him adequately for all he has done. We wish him every satisfaction in his new home.

* * *

Mr. Copley Amory, ’84, contributed to the Class Agents’ dinner last winter a recollection of Dr. Henry A. Coit which carries a moral for today. “I can well see Dr. Coit, saying to the boys gathered in the schoolroom on Thursday evenings after study: ‘The tone of the place!’”. Mr. Amory remarked that he could not easily define what the Rector meant, but that he was sure he knew: “It was something to which the better side of every boy responded”; and he added that his respect for the School a half century afterwards derives in part from Dr. Coit’s meaning when he used the phrase. Has that tone been lost? We do not think so. Every Alumnus feels it when he returns to the place, and new generations of boys, for whom Dr. Coit is only a shadow, still respond to his ghostly admonition.

* * *

We repeatedly invite S.P.S. Alumni to send in any papers or recollections which may throw new lights on the School’s history as it approaches its hundredth year. From Hugh E. Potts, ’85, has come one such note, on the first time “O Pray for the Peace” was sung. “As a very small boy,” Mr. Potts comments, “I was interested in music, and Mr. James Knox used to have me over to his rooms when he played many of the old anthems and oratorios to me. Occasionally in the chapel I did the thumping of the bellows for him—quite a job when he stepped on the bass notes with his feet, for it took a lot of wind.” It was either in 1881 or 1882, Mr. Potts thinks, that what was to become the school anthem was first sung. “The solo part was taken by a young boy, by name Harry Ferriday—I knew him in his later years, but no doubt he is gone by now.” The most fragmentary memory comes thus like a breath out of the past. Will not other Alumni jot down such notes and send them to us?
ALUMNI ACTIVITIES

Recent Books by S.P.S. Alumni

St. Paul's Alumni continue to be active in the field of authorship. Among recent publications we have noted Walter D. Edmonds', '21, "They Fought with What They Had—The Story of the Army Air Forces in the Southwest Pacific, 1941-42." Published by Little Brown and Co., Mr. Edmonds' book is an authoritative account of heroes and heroic actions in a desperate hour at the start of the Second World War. Incidentally, Mr. Edmonds, whose talents as a novelist have long been known, shows himself in this book to be an expert cartographer.

Dillon Ripley, '32, follows up an earlier book dealing with his explorations and ornithological researches ("Trail of the Money Bird") with an account of last year's voyage into Nepal, entitled "Search for the Spiny Babbler." Mr. Ripley, an outstanding naturalist and assistant professor of Zoology at Yale, found many other things beside the aforesaid babbler, including the joys and complexities of travelling in one of the most remote and least-visited countries of the globe. Mr. Ripley's book was extremely well reviewed and recommended as enthusiastically to the layman as to the specialist.

A book about small cruising boats and how to enjoy them has recently been published by Eugene V. Connett 3rd, '08. His publisher claims for Mr. Connett "fifty years of experience in boats thirty feet or less." Outside of boats from time to time, Mr. Connett has been a notable publisher of sporting books and editor of the ALUMNI HORAE. His new book is entitled "The Small Boat Skipper and his Problems."

Percy Chubb 2nd, '27, may not have been at it for fifty years, but he, too, is a sailor, and in "From 60 North to 60 South," privately printed, he gives a highly interesting account of a Summer Cruise from Bergen to Oslo.

ZACHARY TAYLOR,*

by HOLMAN HAMILTON, '28

Holman Hamilton '28, son of Dr. Allen Hamilton '93, when "fresh from Williams College," succeeded Claude G. Bowers as editorial writer of the Fort Wayne Journal-Gazette. Hamilton's early conceived ambition to write a definitive biography of Zachary Taylor was "inspired by the best possible motive in a biographer or historian." So wrote Mr. Bowers in his introduction to the first volume, "Zachary Taylor, Soldier of the Republic." This first volume, published in 1941, carried the life of Taylor through his triumphal welcome by the City of New Orleans as the battle hero of Monterey and Buena Vista when Old Rough and Ready, "de ole hoss," returned from the Mexican War at the age of 63.

Virginia born of quality lineage.

* Zachary Taylor, Soldier of the Republic, 1941; Zachary Taylor, Soldier in the White House, 1951; by Holman Hamilton. The Bobbs-Merrill Company, Inc.
Kentucky raised, with little schooling and no military knowledge, Zachary Taylor was commissioned a First Lieutenant in the United States Army in 1808 at the age of 23. Save for a short interlude he served his country as a professional soldier until elected President in 1848. As avocation he closely supervised the operations of his plantations in Mississippi and Louisiana and when he died he was worth some $200,000, mostly in land and slaves; nor need his wealth have feared a political questionnaire of the current variety. A gentleman in the best sense of the word, even if he did chew tobacco, he was a conservative slave-owning Southerner. Until the Mexican War his soldiering, interlarded with spells of Indian fighting on the then northwestern frontier and in Florida, consisted largely of fort and road building, recruiting service and the command of frontier posts.

This first volume, rated by Professor Samuel E. Morison '03 and other qualified judges as "an excellent piece of work," has now been followed ten years later with the second volume entitled "Soldier in the White House," covering the remaining two and a half short years of Old Zach's life as presidential candidate and President. Grass roots candidate if ever there was one, Taylor never voted in his life even at his own presidential election. There was in fact considerable doubt for a time as to whether he was a Whig or a Democrat. Whig he ultimately announced himself to be in the first of his famous Allison letters and the Whig convention, with Webster, Clay, Justice McLean of the Supreme Court, General Winfield Scott and one or two powerful dark horses as rivals, nominated Taylor but adopted no platform. "The candidate was the platform."

"Rough and Ready is the man
That all good Whigs delight in"— including Abraham Lincoln.

Elected by a minority of the popular vote and with the Democratic party in control of both houses of Congress, worn down by the hard life of frontier soldiering, this bow-legged soldier-farmer with wrinkled, honest, trustful face and (in some pictures) troubled looking eyes, came to the presidency in March 1849 at a time when there was fast racing to a crisis the most perplexing problems of statesmanship with which our country was faced prior to the Civil War. President Taylor died of a sudden intestinal seizure before the constituent bills of the Compromise of 1850 (including a savage Fugitive Slave Law) were passed by the Congress and presented for presidential action. Fillmore, his Vice Presidential successor, signed them all, thus ending any future political career for him and marking the beginning of the end of the Whig party.

Ten years of conscientious, careful labor have gone into this second volume, a devoted stint which the author's small daughter is reported as feeling would never be finished. A considerably longer book than the first volume, in company with its hero, it leaves behind the outdoors of the soldier-planter years and deals with the complicated cross currents of the social and political forces of those highly critical times. Learned, reasonably seasoned in judgment, intelligently fair, to this reader it is a better and more important book than the first volume and far more interesting. To many this story of Zachary Taylor may find not a few parallels in the political events of the year 1952, including the fact that Polk, the Democratic President of 1848, refused, as has President Truman, to be a candidate for re-election.

It is sometimes hard to define where biography ends and history takes over. It is suggested, however, that the ten pages devoted to a blow by blow account of the election of Speaker of the House in the Congress that came into office in Taylor's first year as President might well have been shortened and that the pages thus saved might have been devoted by the author to a discussion at the end, either for the affirmative or the negative, of the following speculative theses: (1) that the Compromise of 1850 was really for the best; (2) that its constituent bills would have passed the Congress even if President Taylor had lived; (3) that if passed, President Taylor would have vetoed none of them.

In describing the scandal concerning the Galphin claim, the author is rather more charitable towards Secretary of the Treasury Meredith and Attorney General Johnson than much circumstantial evidence would seem to warrant. The soldier in the White House was badly let down by his Cabinet in that particular affair—a Cabinet which Old Zach had pretty much selected himself.

Pleasurably readable as this biography is, Mr. Hamilton ought justly to be very proud of the fine fruition of his early conceived ambition.

Form Notes

'81—FRANKLIN REMINGTON when sending his Alumni Fund contribution from a Florida resort in March wrote: "I enjoyed very much a two-mile row on the lake adjacent to the hotel this morning." In his letter he admits that he is now 86 years old!

'83—The REV. WILLIAM NORTHHEY JONES, who is rector of St. Matthew's Church, Henderson, Texas, writes his friend William T. Putnam, '83, as follows: "I believe I am the oldest active priest in the Church. I am now in charge of a Southern church for my 19th winter. This is the third winter in Texas. My wife and I drive down from our Connecticut home the latter part of October each year and stay until May 1st."

'83—WILLIAM T. PUTNAM received the award at the Oregon State Corn Show for the second best cornfield in the State—104 bushels per acre.

'87—To celebrate the Sixtieth Anniversary of the Gordon Medal, Malcolm Kenneth Gordon, '87, the donor, invited the recipients of the Medal to a dinner at the Racquet Club in New York on April 20th. Of the forty-one living Alumni to whom the medal has been awarded, the following were present for a most enjoyable gathering: Pierrepoint Davis Schreiber, '15, Henry Clarkson Scott, '21, Robert Forster Wilson, '20, Paul deB. de Give, '30, George Lee Sargent, '38, Marcus Beebe, Jr., '40, Gordon Buchanan Leib, '42, and George H. B. Gould, '51. As a souvenir of the occasion, Mr. Gordon presented each of his guests with a small pin, designed to be worn at Anniversary Reunions when the Medal is presented annually. Letters from the thirty-three other recipients of the award were read, and old photographs and reminiscences brought back the high points of S.P.S. athletics over the years.

'88—CLARENCE CLARK ZANTZINGER, architect, has recently been elected to membership in the National Institute of Arts and Letters.

'92 and '93—The REV. ANSON PHELPS STOKES, '92, and GEORGE PARMLY DAY, '93, were recipients of the Yale Medal for outstanding service to the University presented at Yale's 35th Alumni Celebration on February 22. Their citations were as follows:

"GEORGE PARMLY DAY, B. A. 1897; New Haven. Mr. Day found Yale brick and left it stone. Two years before he became treasurer in 1910 he established here the first American University Press; he has been the cause of countless gifts by others and is himself a major benefactor of Yale. If you would see his memorial, look about you and read it in 2,000 Yale Press books.

"ANSON PHILPS STOKES, B. A. 1896, LL.D. 1921; Lenox, Mass. As secretary of the University throughout President Hadley’s administration, Mr. Stokes’ signature appears on the diplomas of the classes of 1900 through 1921. It is also on present-day Yale of which he more than any man living is the architect and which bears in every aspect of its manifold life the marks of his vision and energy and dedication to the Christian ideal."

'97—FRANK SHERIDAN WARMOTH, who had been living in Tucson, Arizona, is now at 7 Forest Road, Biltmore Forest, Asheville, N. C.

'00—CARLL TUCKER was recently re-elected a vice-president of Presbyterian Hospital, New York.

'00 and '02—HENRY MACDONALD SEDLEY, '00, who has lived in Los Angeles for many years, and Parke Godwin Sedley, '02, who will retire in June from the Carter Carburetor Corp., St. Louis, are living at Mattapex Farm, Stevensville, Md.

'01—CYRUS FRENCH WICKER, formerly Secretary of Legation and American Charge d’Affaires at Tangier, Morocco, in a recent article recommends United Nations A-bomb bases in internationalized Tangier.

From there I was posted to a semipolitical appointment on the Russo-Hindustan Frontier where I was Adjutant and Quartermaster of the Gilgit Scouts. When India capitulated in 1947 I came home and worked for a year on a large fruit farm. I then joined forces with a friend of mine called Freddie Perkins, who owned a small plot of land at Sway on the borders of the New Forest in Hampshire. We decided to start a tree-nursery business. We began from scratch—just employing ourselves—and we have cleared fields to make them into a small tree and shrub-raising business. We are now supplying trees and shrubs to customers all over the country, including local government bodies, for planting in public parks and along highways, etc. It is a fascinating, but arduous, enterprise. We average 10 to 12 hours work outside per day—and at night I do a quick change and become a pseudo-politician... We have in this country a political youth organization known as The Young Conservatives and I am the chairman of the New Forest crowd which keeps me very busy. For three or four nights a week I am out gassing to audiences ranging from 10 youngsters to 500 fully-fledged Conservatives. During our General Election, I worked in a London ‘Division,’ and spoke at eight meetings every day for three weeks—all in the open air... I love getting the various journals from S.P.S. and I wish I could get over to see you all again one day. It seems so long ago—but I can still remember perfectly my days at St. Paul’s—for I was very happy there and am always pleased to meet fellow-SPS’ers over here—which quite often happens.”

DECEASED

80—Francis Gallatin Tracy, who played a large part in the founding and growth of Carlsbad, New Mexico, and in development of irrigation and agriculture throughout the Pecos Valley, died in a Carlsbad hospital, January 20, 1951. Born in Bay Ridge, N. Y., he was the son of the Rev. U. T. Tracy, rector of an Episcopal church in New York, and a grandson of Uriah Tracy, U. S. Senator from Connecticut. After studying at Columbia as a member of the class of 1884, Mr. Tracy engaged in farming on Long Island but on account of his health went to New Mexico in 1889. In 1899 he reorganized the Pecos Irrigation and Improvement Company and became its president. His far-sighted policy in irrigation matters transformed that part of the country. The first attempt at commercial cotton growing in New Mexico was made by Mr. Tracy for the U. S. Department of Agriculture and he grew the first fruit crop in the Carlsbad area. The first three carloads of peaches shipped out of the Pecos Valley came from the Tracy orchard. Mr. Tracy also was active in real estate and insurance in Carlsbad and was a civic leader. Surviving are his wife, the former Olive Clark; a daughter, Josephine, the wife of Col. George G. Eddy, commanding officer of White Sands Proving Ground; a son, Francis Gallatin Tracy, Jr., of La Huerta, N. Mex.; six grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

85—William Shubael Conant, a retired consulting engineer who helped develop the radiator for internal combustion engines and was influential in the early development of air-conditioning, died at his home in Washington, D. C., January 25, 1951. He had been retired since 1918 and had lived in Washington since 1924. Mr. Conant served with the Westinghouse Electric Manufacturing Co., Pittsburgh, and the Chicago World's Fair in 1893 before going to Detroit as a construction engineer in 1895. There he formed a consulting engineering partnership with Jesse Merrick Smith, later president of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. They designed and supervised the construction of electric light and power units, steam plants, interurban railways, factory, hotel and office building installations. During World War I he served as Major of Ordnance at Springfield Armory in Massachusetts where he was Officer in Charge of Construction. Born in Detroit, Mr. Conant spent most of his boyhood in Santa Barbara and Princeton. He left St. Paul's in 1883 and after two years at Lawrenceville entered Princeton. He received the A.B. degree in 1890 and a degree in Electrical Engineering in 1892. Mr. Conant was a member of the Sons of the American Revolution, the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and the Detroit Engineering Society, and was a contributor to technical journals. His wife, the former Frances Elizabeth Wendling, died in 1946.

'85—George Lewis Nelson, who was born in New London, Conn., October 7, 1867, the son of the Rev. Henry W. Nelson, died June 19, 1951, at his home in Brookline, Mass. His career since leaving S.P.S. in '86 can best be given in his statement for the Fiftieth Anniversary Report of the Harvard Class of 1891: "After leaving college, I held a variety of positions in the financial business in New York, Buffalo, Philadelphia, and Boston. In the early part of 1900, I went to Puerto Rico to engage in sugar-cane planting as a 'coloño' in association with Central Aguirre, which had been organized the year before by a group of Boston men. In 1903 I married Caroline Emily Wright of Buffalo and brought her to the plantation. In November, 1912, I became associated with the Trust Department of the Commonwealth Trust Co. of Boston and continued with that organization (later the Atlantic National Bank) until my retirement in 1931. Since that time I have been slightly occupied as executor and trustee. I might add that I have had a variety of military experiences, having been a member of Troop A in New York from 1891 to 1893, a member of Battery A in Boston from 1896 to 1900, and a member of the First Motor Corps in Boston from 1917 to 1919." He is survived by a sister, Miss Dorothea Nelson of North Marshfield, Mass.

'86—Philip Allen died suddenly in Providence, R. I., October 31, 1951, in his eighty-third year. After his graduation from the School in '86, he returned for another year's study before entering Yale. He was a famous Yale athlete and was captain of the Yale crew of 1890. In a four-mile race, rowing stroke, he broke his oar soon after passing the first-mile flag and jumped overboard to lighten the load in the shell. The seven remaining oarsmen increased the lead of three lengths at the mile mark to seven lengths at the finish of the race. This feat made him famous in the world of sports, and became a legend in the history of Yale crews. Mr. Allen's business firm in Providence was Allen & Reed, Inc., which he and his late brother-in-law established in the 1890's. Mr. Allen was also the oldest living director of the Providence Union National Bank. His sons are Philip Allen, Jr., '15, U. S. Navy, and William Slater Allen, '23, of Providence. He left two S.P.S. grandsons, William Slater Allen, Jr., '48, and Zachariah Allen, 3d, now at the School.

'89—President Judge Charles Sinkler of the Philadelphia Orphans' Court, died suddenly at his home in Rittenhouse Square, Philadelphia, January 13, 1952, at the age of 77. As a boy he went to Episcopal Academy and after his graduation from S. P. S., he entered the University of Pennsylvania from which he was graduated in 1893. Three years later he completed the law course there. For the first thirteen years of his professional career he was associated with the Philadelphia law firm of Morgan, Lewis and Bockius. Subsequently, with the late Parker S. Williams, he formed a partnership which served as counsel for the Federal Reserve Bank. During the first World War, the future judge volunteered for service with the American Red Cross in France and personally established — under fire — the first Red Cross outpost at the front. In May 1930 he was appointed to a vacancy in Orphans’ Court and the voters returned him to the bench for successive ten-year terms in 1931, 1941 and 1951. He became President Judge in December 1948. Judge Sinkler took an active interest in the affairs of the Protestant Episcopal Church; was a trustee of the University of Pennsylvania and a former director of its General Alumni Society, and served as president of the Philadelphia Orthopedic Hospital and Infirmary for Nervous Diseases. He enjoyed country life and his hobbies were tree planting and tomato culture. During the season he would bring ripe tomatoes to his office to have a spot of garden color on his desk and to distribute among his associates. In earlier years he was active in fox hunting. He is survived by his wife, the former Gladys Arnold; two sisters, Miss Julia U. and Miss Elsie B. Sinkler; and three brothers, John P., Dr. Francis W. and Wharton Sinkler.

'92—FREDERICK HOWELL BILLARD, seventy-eight, banker and philanthropist, died on April 4, 1952, at his home in Meriden, Conn., after a long illness. Mr. Billard had been chairman of the board of the City Savings Bank of Meriden for the past ten years and had been its president for the preceding twenty years. He was a trustee of the Meriden Trust and Safe Deposit Co. and a member of the board of the local branch of the Hartford-Connecticut Trust Co. He was a member of the board of the Meriden Hospital for more than thirty years and a substantial contributor to its recently completed $2,000,000 campaign fund. He was a founder of the Meriden Community Fund and a trustee of the Gaylord Farm Sanitarium and of the local Y. M. C. A., built on land donated by his father, John L. Billard, a coal and lumber merchant. Born in Meriden, Mr. Billard was a graduate of Yale University and was with his father’s coal and lumber firm of Lyon and Billard until it was sold in 1923. Surviving are a niece, Mrs. William H. Edwards of Rumson, N. J. Mr. Billard’s wife, the former Elizabeth E. Willard, died in 1948.

'92—WILLIAM OLIVER BOSWELL died at Rochester, New York, on May 11, 1950. After graduation from Hobart College in 1896, he studied law at Cornell University and New York University. His law firm in Rochester was Oliver and Boswell. In 1921 he helped to organize the Hickory Grove Coal Mining Corporation and was one of its chief owners and officers until his retirement in 1942. In 1907 he was a founder of the Lewis Street Settlement, a social agency to assist immigrant Italians to acclimate themselves to their new home in Rochester. He was also a director of the Visiting Nurse Association and was a vestryman of Christ Episcopal Church. He was a trustee and for many years advisor to the Hobart Chapter of the Sigma Phi Society, the second oldest national social fraternity. In 1920 he married Miss Aldo Will who survives with their four children: Mrs. Charlton I. Prince, of Rochester, Mrs. Arthur Q. Legg of Newark, N. Y., Lt. William O. Boswell, Jr., '40, Ramey Air Field, Puerto Rico, and Charles P. Boswell, Jr., '44. One of his brothers was the late Dr. Charles Oliver Boswell, '89.

'95—DR. GERARD HUTCHINSON COX of Saranac Lake, N. Y., died in Boston, on November 25, 1951, at the age of seventy-four. He was graduated from Yale in 1899 and from the Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons in 1903. Dr. Cox was consulting otolaryngologist for the Veterans Administration Hospital at Sunmount and for the Mercy General Hospital at Tupper Lake, N. Y. A Diplomate of the American Board of Otolaryngology, a Diplomate of the American Board of Plastic Surgery, and a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons, Dr. Cox was a member of the American Otological Society, the Franklin County Medical Society, the Medical Society of the State of New York and the American Medical Association. He is survived by his wife, the former Alice Tweedy Crunden; a son, Gerard H. Cox, Jr., of New Canaan, Conn.; and a daughter, Mrs. Eleanor Cox Lounes.

'96—GEORGE GRAY, Jr., died of a heart ailment, after a ten days’ illness, on December 5, 1951, in Wilmington, Delaware, at the age of 73. He was the son of the late Judge George Gray of Wilmington who held many national and international posts and was a U. S. Senator and Circuit Court Judge. Like his father, Mr. Gray was interested in Democratic politics but never held public office. After three years at St. Paul’s, he entered Princeton where he was a member of the class of 1900. For many years he was associated with the brokerage firm of E. H. Rollins & Co. in Wilmington but had been retired since 1932. Mr. Gray, who was a bachelor, is survived by his sister, Mrs. Emily Gray Thouron of Wilmington, by two nephews, George Gray Thouron, '26, and Henry A. Thouron, ’30, also of Wilmington, and by a niece, Mrs. Robert W. Ryle of Locust Valley, L. I.

'99—FREDERICK LESLIE TARBOX, who was born April 7, 1880, died at the Veterans Administration Domiciliary, Clinton, Iowa, January 28, 1952. During most of his life he had lived in St. Paul, Minn., but during a period in the ’20s he was connected with Manning, Maxwell & Moore in New York. During a short period of World War I he served as a private first class in the U. S. Army and was located at the Remount Service Training Camp Joseph Johnson, Florida. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Helen B. Tarbox, 665 Portland Ave., St. Paul, Minn.

'00—THOMAS NEWELL METCALF, whose career was in literature and art, was born in Chicago in November, 1832, and died at his home in Beverly Farms, Mass., January 17, 1952. Before entering St. Paul's, he attended Illinois Military School and from S.P.S. he went to Harvard from which he was graduated in 1904. He then became a reporter on a newspaper in Chicago but most of his literary career was in New York where he was editor at one time of Munsey's “All Story Magazine.” He also served for a period as advertising manager of the Raymond and Whitcomb Travel Agency. Around 1935, when he was living in Boston and Beverly Farms, he became interested in the Institute of Contemporary Art and this was his chief interest until four years before his death. During World War I he served as a lieutenant in the Air Force on the Aviation Examining Board, New Orleans; as personnel officer, U. S. School of Military Aeronautics, Princeton, N. J., and as a member of Examining Boards for Aviation in Atlanta and New York. In 1921 he married Elizabeth Mason Paine of Boston who survives him with their four children, Thomas N. Metcalf, Jr., Joan Metcalf, Diana Metcalf and Robert Treat Paine Metcalf.

'01—HAROLD BROWN SWOPE was born in Wheeling, W. Va., January 23, 1884 and died in Skyland, North Carolina, December 16, 1949. After his four years at S.P.S., he entered the University of the South, Sewanee, Tenn., from which he received a degree. Mr. Swope was an independent landscape architect. He worked in California and elsewhere but perhaps his most important work was with the Great Smokies National Park Project in North Carolina. He was also the owner and operator of a citrus grove in Florida for many years. He is survived by his widow of 81 Charlotte Street, Asheville, N. C., and by one sister, Mrs. F. O. Boyer of Winter Park, Florida.

'02—HANCOCK GRIFFIN died in Bar Harbor, Maine, November 24, 1951, at the age of 69. He spent six years at S.P.S. and was graduated from Harvard in 1906. Practically his entire business career was his connection with the General Electric Company of Schenectady, N. Y. During this time he lived in Albany and in 1943, upon his retirement, he moved to Bar Harbor. During World War I he served as a major in the U. S. Army Quartermaster Corps, Washington. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Katherine Langton Marvin Griffith; three daughters, Mrs. D. Cady Herrick of Albany, Mrs. Rosecrans Baldwin of Chicago, and Mrs. William Fenton of Bar Harbor; and a son, Hancock, Jr., of Smithtown Branch, L. I.

'02—ORATOR FRANK WOODWARD died January 22, 1952, at Reno, Nevada. We were unable to get further information before going to press.

'04—SAMUEL ALEXANDER BALDWIN died at Puuene, Maui, Hawaii, July 21, 1950. This information was given us by Stephen Arthur Derby, '23, of Honolulu, but we have been unable to obtain any data for a sketch of Mr. Baldwin. He was a graduate of Yale and was the owner of the Hakeakala Ranch Co., Makawao, Maui, T. H. He is survived by his widow.

'09—CHARLES SCRIBNER, the third Charles Scribner to head the 106-year-old firm of Charles Scribner's Sons, New York, died in a New York hospital February 11, 1952, at the age of 62. Mr. Scribner joined the firm after his graduation from Princeton in 1913 and in 1932 succeeded his uncle, Arthur H. Scribner, as president. On the firm's 100th Anniversary in 1946, Mr. Scribner noted with quiet pride that its roster of authors included Henry James, John Galsworthy, James Barrie, Theodore Roosevelt, Robert Louis Stevenson, Edith Wharton, F. Scott Fitzgerald, Winston Churchill, Ernest Hemingway and Thomas Wolfe. The New York Herald-Tribune stated editorially: "The firm has had great editors—none more so than Maxwell Perkins ('02), whose primacy in the field was undisputed... But behind the greatest editor stands a resolution, a will to do right, without which no editor, however courageous or skillful, can function effectively. Almost every long enterprise rests basically upon the same standards of integrity... The third of the Scribners was worthy of his traditions—a level-headed, broad-minded citizen of his time." Mr. Scribner was a trustee of Skidmore College and of Blair Academy. He was also a director of Bantam Books, Inc., the Fulton Trust Co., and Grossett & Dunlap, Inc. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Vera Gordon Bloodgood Scribner; a daughter, Mrs. Thomas J. Bigham, and a son, Charles Scribner, Jr., '39, an executive of the publishing company.

'10—SPENCER OWENS SHOTTER died at Sharon, Conn., March 15, 1952, at the age of 59. He attended the School from 1905 to 1909 when he left to study at La Villa, a school in Lucerne, Switzerland, before entering Harvard. He was graduated from Harvard in 1914 and was manager of the "Harvard Crimson." He was active in business until October 14, 1951, when he suffered a heart attack. Since then he had lived at Century Cottage, Sharon, Conn., where Mrs. Shotter is living.

'10—S. BOWMAN WHEELER, a member of the Wheeler family of Philadelphia closely connected with the early history of the School, was born February 22, 1893, and died unexpectedly at his home in Wynewood, Pa., March 2, 1952. He attended the School from '05 to '10 and was a member of the class of 1914 at Princeton. Except for a period of service with the Army in World War I, he spent his entire life in and around Philadelphia where he was engaged in the investment business from 1919 to 1934. In the latter years of his life he was in the real estate business for himself and at the time of his death he was associated with the real estate firm of Albert M. Greenfield and Company, Philadelphia. He had two children, S. Bowman Wheeler, 3rd, '43, now in government service in Washington, and a daughter, Mrs. William Barclay Parsons, Jr., of Kyoto, Japan, whose husband, the Rev. Mr. Parsons, is an Episcopal missionary. He is survived also by his mother, Mrs. Gibson Bell; by a brother, Frederic Collins Wheeler, '12, of Philadelphia; and by a sister, Mrs. Harold B. Collins of Detroit.

'11—EVERETT ROWLAND WILSON has recently died. We hope to have information for a sketch of his life for the next issue.

'12—LEGRAND BOUTON CANNON and Mrs. Cannon were the victims of a fire which completely wrecked their South Carolina plantation home, "Springwood," on February 25, 1952. "Springwood" is located on the Black River about twelve miles from Georgetown, a mile and a half from the road, and two miles from the nearest house and the tragedy was not discovered for more than a week. Mr. Cannon bought the estate of 1,329 acres in 1937. During the succeeding years he studied the scientific breeding of purebred Durocs and became well known as a hog breeder. He set records in this field which won many awards in and out of South Carolina. At the S. C. State Fair in 1950 hogs raised by Mr. Cannon won fifteen prizes.

Born in Burlington, Vt., June 27, 1894, Mr. Cannon was the son of Mrs. Theodore Frelinghuysen of New York and Palm Beach, and the late Henry LeGrand Cannon, '77. He served in the Canadian Air Corps in World War I and transferred to the U.S. Air Corps when the United States entered the war. In addition to his mother he is survived by a sister, Mrs. Edgar W. Leonard of New York and Palm Beach. Mrs. Cannon was the former Miss Pauline Denckla of Philadelphia.

'12—CHESTER B. MCLAUGHLIN, New York lawyer active in Westchester County civic affairs, died at his home in Bronxville, N. Y., January 22, 1952, at the age of 56. He had been suffering for some time from a heart ailment. Mr. McLaughlin was senior partner of McLaughlin, Stickles & Hayden, at 26 West 44th St., and was a son of the late Chester B. McLaughlin, an associate judge of the New York State Court of Appeals. He had been a member of the Town Council of Eastchester for twenty years and had served as an Eastchester Justice of the Peace and Bronxville Police Judge. Born in Port Henry, N. Y., he studied five years at St. Paul's and was a graduate of Harvard College and of Harvard Law School. Mr. McLaughlin had been a frequent contributor on legal subjects to the Yale Law School and Georgetown University law periodicals. He was a former director of the Bronxville Savings & Loan Association and the Bronxville Welfare Fund. During World War I he saw service as a captain in the U.S. Army and was a past commander of his American Legion Post. He was a member of the Sons of the American Revolution, American State, Westchester County and New York City Bar Associations and the Masons. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Margaret Williston McLaughlin; a son, Lt. Chester B. McLaughlin, Jr., now in Korea with the Army; two daughters, Mrs. Margaret S. Carmichael and Miss Elizabeth A. McLaughlin; and a brother, Donald G. McLaughlin, '24, of the Virgin Islands. Another brother, Warner McLaughlin, '06, died in 1950.

'13—THOMAS JONES HILLIARD, retired vice-president of Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp. of Pittsburgh, died of a heart ailment at the age of 58 on March 26, 1952, at Sea Island, Georgia. Mr. Hilliard became associated with the steel concern in 1936 when he joined the sales force. He rose to vice-president in charge of sales before retiring in 1948. Before joining Carnegie-Illinois he served with Waverly Oil Works, also in Pittsburgh, and was a vice-president when he left the company in 1936 to join Carnegie-Illinois. After further study at Princeton upon his graduation from St. Paul's, he enlisted in the Air Force and attained the rank of Captain, serving as a pilot in World War I. Surviving are his mother, Mrs. W. Henry R. Hilliard, two daughters, and three sons: Thomas Jones Hilliard, Jr., '39, of Pittsburgh, Harry Talbot Hilliard, '41, of Midland, Texas, and William Raymond Hilliard, '46, of Pittsburgh. Surviving also are three nephews, Henry Raymond Hilliard, Jr., '39, of South Freeport, Me., Lt. George Webb Hilliard, USA, '41, now in Alaska, and Richard Levering Hilliard, '47, of Pittsburgh, sons of the late H. Raymond Hilliard, '10. His wife died several years ago.

'13—HERMAN FOSTER STRAW, grandson of Ezekiel Straw, former Governor of New Hampshire, and son of Herman Foster Straw, '68, died at his home in Andover, Mass., on November 19, 1951. He had lived in Andover since his retirement from business several years ago. After five years at St. Paul's, he entered Princeton in September 1913. In October 1915 he left college to enter business in Chicago. In June 1917 he enlisted as a seaman in the Naval Reserve and served as an ensign on the U.S.S. San Francisco, which was engaged in mine laying in the North Sea during World War I. He then returned to his activities in public utilities in Chicago and was during this time a resident of Lake Forest, Ill. He is survived by a son, John Parker Straw, a daughter, Mrs. Dines Nelson, and by a brother, William Parker Straw, ’95, of Manchester, N. H. Another brother, Harry Ellis Straw, ’00, died in Manchester, November 4, 1950. He was an uncle of the late Ezekiel A. Straw, ’20, and a great uncle of Ezekiel Albert Straw, Jr., ’43, of Manchester.

16—Norman Forbes Milne, prominent insurance man of Manchester, N. H., died at his summer home, “Stone acres,” Auburn, N. H., July 16, 1951, at the age of 54. He was a director of the New Hampshire Fire Insurance Company, the Manchester Gas Company and the Manchester National Bank. He was the owner of Milne-Flanders Insurance Company of Manchester and had been engaged in the finance business for several years. A native of Philadelphia, Mr. Milne had been a resident of Manchester for 24 years. A short interval after his graduation from Haverford College was spent in business in Bethlehem, Pa. He served in the Army in World War I and was a lieutenant commander in the Navy in World War II. He was a member of the Sons of the Revolution, the Colonial Society of Pennsylvania and the Newcomen Society. Mr. Milne is survived by his wife, the former Charlotte Parker; two daughters, Miss Marjorie C. Milne of Auburn and Mrs. Emile Girolimo of Manchester; one son, Norman F. Milne, Jr., ’50; two brothers, Gordon Fairfax Milne, ’23, of Philadelphia, and David D. Milne of Clearwater, Fla. Another brother, Sidney Wentworth Milne, ’18, died in 1945.

18—Bertram Corfield Bucknell died at his home, in Devon, England, on July 27, 1951. He was one of three brothers who attended St. Paul’s, the other two being the late George Stafford Bucknell, ’15, and Major H. Lloyd Fielding Bucknell, ’23, of The Marsh House Farm, Eaton Bishop, Hereford, England. A letter from Major Bucknell will be of interest to St. Paul’s friends and is quoted as follows: “My brother died, as you know, in July after many years of illness. He had a number of operations for lung infection as far back as 1920 and was permanently incapacitated from that time. He came to live in England in 1926 and became a British subject. My two brothers and I were born in New York of British parents who never became American citizens and we traveled as children on British passports. My brothers, Stafford and Bertram, however, joined the U.S. Army during the 1914-18 war and thus declared their American nationality by right of place of birth. I always retained my British nationality and, since leaving S.P.S. in 1919 to study in England and eventually go to Cambridge University, I forsook my right to American citizenship. Bertram and I came to live together in 1927 when we were given a place in Devonshire by my father. There I looked after him for 14 years. He was active and well but could do nothing strenuous. He took great interest in all local affairs and was chairman of the Parish Council in the village of Christow, near Exeter, Devon, where we lived, and was a member of the Rural District Council. In 1939 I was called up and, shortly after, Bertram married Wendy Mary White-Gage in April 1940 and they moved later to Brooke, Ipplepen, Newton Abbot, Devon. They had three children: James Legg Bucknell, born 1943; Anita Mary Bucknell, born 1946; and Timothy John Bucknell, born 1949. Bertram is buried in the churchyard of St. Andrew Church, Ipplepen.” Surviving in addition to his widow are two nephews, William Stafford Bucknell, ’41, and Robert Henry Bucknell, ’43, sons of Stafford Bucknell, ’15.

20—John Thomas Pirie, 2d, fifty-one, first vice-president and a director of Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co., Chicago department store, died December 12, 1951, in Chicago after a long illness. A proponent of modern design in furniture and merchandising, Mr. Pirie, who joined the staff of the department store in 1924 following his graduation from Princeton, was known in his business as a "merchandiser to watch." He was credited with greatly improving his store's business through a formula of "rejuvenated quarters, alert buyers and smash advertising." His father had been an executive of the company, and his grandfather had been one of the founders. At Princeton Mr. Pirie captained the crew in his junior year and stroked the varsity boat in his senior year. He was awarded the Lyman Biddle Medal, which is given annually to the member of the rowing squad who has best exemplified good sportsmanship. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Dorothy Stuart Schafer; a sister, Mrs. Madeline S. Herzog; and two brothers, Oscar S. and Roger S. Schafer.

'32—Edward Berry Hanson, assistant information officer at the American Embassy in Cairo, died February 25, 1952, in Cairo, where he had been on duty since April 1, 1950. Stricken with poliomyelitis, he had entered the hospital a week previously. The U.S. Air Force immediately flew an iron lung to Mr. Hanson from Germany but his condition was complicated by the development of pneumonia. He was born in New Rochelle, New York, December 25, 1912. He held an A.B. degree from Williams and had done graduate work at Columbia University. Mr. Hanson left his position as assistant metropolitan sales manager for a large New York food company in 1942 to accept a commission as captain in the U.S. Army. He served in the Pacific War Theater and in Korea in the Military Government until 1946. After a period with the U.S. Veterans Administration, he served as executive secretary of the Dayton (Ohio) Council on World Affairs. He left that post to enter the Foreign Service. Mr. Hanson is survived by his widow, the former Myrtle Landers of Monroe, Georgia; two children, a son and a daughter; and his father, E. Irving Hanson of Greenwich, Conn. Burial was in the British Protestant Cemetery in old Cairo.
